Appeals Court Agrees 2 Seminary Houses Exempt from Taxes

The tax-free status won by two Mercer Street houses owned by Princeton Theological Seminary has been affirmed by the state Appeals Court.

The court affirmed a ruling by the state Tax Court that the Seminary need not pay taxes on 91 and 93 Mercer Street, houses valued at more than $400,000 each and used as residences by two members of the faculty.

Unless the Borough appeals the decision to the state Supreme Court, it must return to the Seminary the taxes it has paid on the two properties since 1985.

The Seminary paid taxes of $4,970 and $4,546 on the two homes in 1985; $5,297 and $4,732 in 1986; and would owe $5,768 and $5,174 for the two through the end of 1987.

Whether to appeal will be discussed at the Thursday, July 9, meeting of Borough Council. But if Council President Marvin Reed has his way, the Borough will go ahead.

"We probably need to consider a legal appeal, at least to find out whether the Supreme Court will hear the case," said Mr. Reed. "We may be at the point where we have to proceed with the case so that the Legislature will understand the way in which educational exemption cases are now being abused."

Mr. Reed was alluding to efforts led by Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund and himself to seek help from the state Legislature for those municipalities burdened with large numbers of tax-exempt properties.

Ironically, in the same week that the Appellate Court affirmed the tax-exempt status of 91 and 93 Mercer Street, Mayor Barbara Sigmund discussed this subject in a three-page

Rocky Hill Bridge Closed Until Some Time in Fall

Autumn leaves will be falling before motorists can once again cross the Route 518 bridge in Rocky Hill.

It was announced last September — when the bridge was closed for reconstruction — that it would open this July. But in January it was disclosed that the pilings had been put in out of alignment and would have to be removed and reinstalled. At that time the state Department of Transportation (DOT) said the bridge would open August 1.

Now, DOT engineers say it will not be ready for traffic until the end of October. "We lost a lot of time on the piling problem," said Resident Engineer Thomas Sheridan, "and we haven't

3-Day Shotgun Season Is Proposed In Township to Thin Out Deer Herd

An ordinance amendment which would allow three days of shotgun deer hunting in December to thin the herd is in the works at Township Committee.

The proposed amendment contains a list of eight criteria or stipulations which persons must meet in order to be allowed to participate in the special deer season. The amendment was discussed at length last Monday by Committee and other interested persons. It was then tabled until this coming Monday, at the suggestion of Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer who said he would show it to officials at the state Fish Game and Wildlife Division for their comment in the interim.

Township Committee meeting that the proposed amendment does not lift the ban on discharge of firearms which was enacted in 1972. It merely tacks on an extra three-day shotgun hunting season to the already existing eight weeks of bow hunting allowed by the state Fish Game and Wildlife Division. The amendment also adds another 150 feet to the 300 feet from an occupied dwelling within which no person shall discharge a firearm or have one in his possession, except by permission of the owner of the dwelling.

The proposed amendment only applies to Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, December 16-18, 1987; presumably if the Township wants to have another special shotgun season the following year, another amendment would be required.

In order to participate in this special permit season, persons of either sex must:

- have a valid 1987 firearm hunting license and special shotgun deer permit;
- register with the Township Police Department;
- have written permission to hunt from the landowner;
- agree to hunt from a standing tree or structure, not roam the property shooting;
- agree to hunt only within the deer management zone designated by the state Fish and Game Commission (Princeton is divided into two deer hunting zones, divided roughly by Route 206);
- agree to hunt all three days and to take a doe if possible;
- submit to a shotgun shooting test adminstered by the Township Police Depart-

Garbage Pick-Up Charges Pushing Some in Township To Go with Private Firms

Skyrocketing dumping fees at an out-of-state landfill, combined with the high assessed value of Township lakeside property, have resulted in garbage charges that are three and four times what neighbors pay for private pick-up. The new fees, a separate item on the 1987 tax bills which just went out, have compelled residents of Township Garbage District 7 to seek an immediate return to private collection.

Lake Drive and Longview Drive residents found Township Committee sympathetic to their concerns Monday night and willing to expedite the ordinance process to reverse procedures taken two years ago when three new municipal garbage districts were created. But at the same time, Township officials were memo that will accompany the tax bill being sent to all Borough taxpayers.

In the memo, the mayor refers to the "tax war" the Borough is fighting with Princeton "The Borough is already 44 percent tax-exempt, which means that only 56 percent of our properties pay 100 percent of the taxes," she wrote. "We are grateful for the presence and prestige of our principal educational institutions, but the Seminary's present fight in the courts to remove more of its off-campus houses from the tax rolls bodes ill for the overburdened Borough taxpayer. (Suppose the University were to initiate a similar suit?!)"

She also wrote about the legislative initiative on the tax front, explaining that the Borough has started to work to form a coalition with other municipalities which are similarly overburdened with an abundance of tax-free properties to gain relief from the state.

Mr. Reed said that there are other places in the state where the pattern of acquiring houses and putting faculty in them would affect the tax base. "If you have the house as a fringe benefit, rent-free to full professors, then you are in effect subsidizing the institution. This subsidy is borne by the taxpayers."

The Seminary has attempted to stop paying taxes on several of its other properties. Last year, Borough Tax Assessor Carol Caskey denied its request to remove 104 Mercer Street, Apartment 2 at 2 Library Place, and 92 Stockton Street from the tax rolls. However, with the new ruling, it would seem that the way has cleared for the Seminary to proceed with its plans.

The Seminary voluntarily pays the Borough a total of $5,500 a year in lieu of taxes for all its tax-exempt property.

adopting a "wait and see" attitude in anticipation of new municipal collection bids that are due on Friday.

James J. Pascale noted Monday, it was thought that "economies of scale" — a minimum of 25 contiguous homes and thus less labor; all billing handled by the municipality — would result in a favorable contract with the municipality and thus a reasonable cost to homeowners at the time the new districts were created.

However, several factors have combined to put the 1987 charge far in excess of what homeowners could obtain from private haulers. The first is that the Township did not have a contract with any company to do municipal collection at the time the bills went out. Only two bids had been received, which were considered excessive and thrown out.

By state law, tax bills have to be sent out at a specified time in June — not time to get a new bid. Thus the garbage charge had to be estimated. Knowing that last year's total garbage collection receipts were $25,000 short of the actual cost, that figure had to be included and apportioned in the 1987 charges.

It represents 13 percent of the figure the Township homeowners are objecting to on their tax bill, but will have to be paid even if they are successful in opting out of a municipal collection district, according to Mr. Pascale.

Another major factor is the dumping fees charged to the disposal company by the landfill. These have risen 350 percent since May, 1984, and 200 percent since the three new garbage districts were created in 1985.

Knowing that ultimately they are paid by the consumer, the Township's policy is to allow the contractor to pass those increases on as they occur — rather than go along with a locked-in rate that is not reflective of the real cost and then be hit by the accumulated increase.

Thus Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser had built in a 25 percent contingency in the specs he prepared for bid. This 25 percent, plus the 13 percent to make up the $25,000 shortfall, inflated the base charge for curbside service to $16.72. This, as Mr. Kiser points out, is not far removed from the $12.87 per month charged by National Waste in 1986 for individual curbside service, although it is double the Township's 1986 rate of $8.55.

The figures for backdoor service, however, reflect a much larger differential of 301 percent. The Township collection figures are also based on a $100,000 assessed valuation for curbside pickup, and $110,00 for backdoor. Those with properties valued higher will pay proportionately more.

Assessing garbage collection fees on the basis of property values is mandated by state law, Mr. Pascale points out, adding, "And it is killing us." More affluent districts in effect subsidize the less affluent, or as Mr. Kiser put it, "Longview Drive is subsidizing Birch and Leigh avenues." He warned Committee that as District 7 drops out the rate will go up in the other districts.

Mr. Pascale also pointed out that private rates are determined by the Board of Public Utilities (BPU), while municipal charges are subject to contract bidding. It takes a year or longer for a private hauler to get heard by the board, but Mr. Pascale said he did not doubt that the BPU would grant substantial rate increases to these companies, given the skyrocketing dumping fees which the same company can collect as they occur in a municipal contract.

Thus both be and Mr. Kiser warned that the private rates are likely to go up — perhaps as much as the municipal charge has gone up for these residents. Perhaps in several years these residents will be back petitioning for municipal collection again, Mr. Kiser suggested.

Meanwhile, however, the residents were clearly of a mind that private is better, municipal is too costly. Mr. Pascale advised them to pay the tax bill due August 1 as written, while the Township treasurer and tax collector John S. Clawson Jr. figures out how to process the refunds.

NEW LOOK ON LYTLE: The Borough Zoning Board has given final approval for the conversion of the former Marv's Lounge on Lytle Street into a liquor store. The store, tentatively named Community North, is owned by Stanley and Tobie Parnett, owners of Community Liquors on Witherspoon Street. The Board also specified that Tash's, the liquor store at 29 Lytle Street also owned by Mr. and Mrs. Parnett, must be converted back into a single-family residence. Work on both sites is expected to begin this summer.

PHS Principal Suggests Some Ways to Cope With a Declining High School Enrollment

What kind of school will Princeton High School be when the student population drops to 600? The opening round in what promises to be a lengthy and continuing discussion of this question was offered last week to the Princeton Regional Board of Education by High School Principal John Sakala.

His recommendations include:

• Taking a hard look at Latin, Italian and German, with the idea of perhaps offering these languages in alternate years, or in a two-year experience;

• Analyzing whether to keep the school's industrial arts program — which this past year served 67 students in 11 classes — and exploring better utilization of the Mercer County vocational school shared-time system;

• Examining whether the creative arts — instrumental, drama, voice — might be integrated and blended in certain staff-recommended ways.

Two years ago, 1000 students were enrolled at Princeton High School. There were 900 this past year, and the number is expected to drop to about 800 in September. Projections contained in a recent demographic study commissioned by the Board of Education show the slide continuing until a low of 666 students is reached in 1991.

TOPICS Of The Town

The report, prepared by consultants Lloyd Bishop and Philip Pitruzzello, projects a slow and steady increase in the school population beginning in 1992, when 683 students are projected. By 1996, enrollment may again reach 857.

An unknown factor in this numbers game is Cranbury. If negotiations between the Cranbury and Princeton Regional Boards of Education succeed, Cranbury might be expected to add approximately 130 students to the high school population by the year 1991.

Mr. Sakala spoke positively about the advantages a smaller high school can offer. He said that, while visiting several such schools, he noted that students felt more valuable in a small setting. "Kids who would not go out for teams in larger schools would in smaller," he said.

Another advantage of a smaller school, the principal believes, is that staff will be able to know every student. He feels this will make it easier to provide available services to students, and to encourage more connection between faculty and students.

He stressed the need to maintain Princeton's relatively traditional curriculum, and said that the school will probably be able to offer a great many of the courses currently available. This is because a certain amount of weeding out has already taken place, reflecting the drop in population that began two years ago. "The core courses remain," he said, "and more classes will be operating at 20 than 30 students."

Mr. Sakala is hoping the smaller school will provide more of an opportunity to focus on black students. "Many black students continue to be underserved," he said. "We want to provide greater activity in reaching out to them."

The principal would like to see community service added to the curriculum, as a requirement for graduation. This could probably be done through the Learning in the Community program, a program he would like to see strengthened.

Redesign Remediation. He is also hoping to begin the process of redesigning remedial services at the high school. "It is becoming clear that we are getting more kids who need remediation," he said. "Many, but not all, are from other districts, and I'd also like to look at some students presently placed outside the district."

Other recommendations made by the high school principal include developing a program for students who have returned from rehabilitation in order to reacclimate them to the regular program; strengthening the field trip efforts, and making a commitment to maintain many of the current alternative programs.

Mr. Sakala was asked by School Superintendent Carol Choye to place these recommendations in writing so that the full Board can respond to them in September.

Superintendent Responds To Task Force Reports

Princeton Regional School Superintendent Carol Choye last week distributed to School Board members a 19-page memo outlining her projected implementation of recommendations contained in two recent Board Task Force reports.

The first report, "Task Force on Student Life," lists 37 recommendations for improving students' self-esteem, achieving a balance between freedom and control, and developing relationships and a sense of community.

It also outlines a survey taken last year in which minority students showed significantly higher levels of dissatisfaction with the schools than did their non-minority peers.

The second report, from the Task Force on Class Size, recommends that class sizes for elementary grades should be reduced; that there be ample opportunity for flexible groupings in the middle school; and that minimum and maximum limits on class size be established and enforced at the high school.

Responding to Dr. Choye's plan of implementation, Board Member Joel Cooper said it bothered him that most of the recommendations were for further study. "I'd like to see action instead," he said Board members Marjorie Smith and Hugh Brandt agreed with Mr. Cooper. "We already know there is a level of concern with present communication," said Mrs. Smith. Mr. Brandt urged that the superintendent look at the specific recommendations contained in the two Task Force reports.

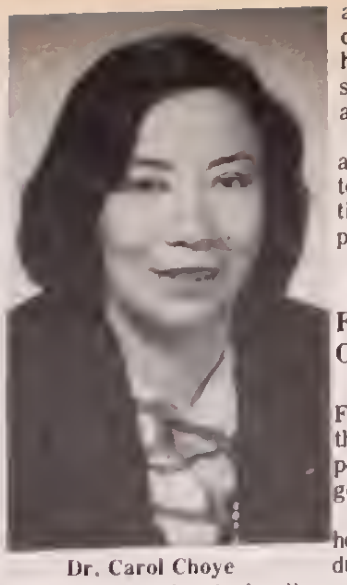
Dr. Choye told the Board that the actions spelled out in her memo will build on what was done by the Task Forces. "Involving staff in a problem is as important as the final results,"



Dr. Carol Choye

"Close Look at Curriculum" she stated. "We are also working on empowering teachers and students."

Board members picked three areas which they felt should receive earliest attention: improving the individualization of instruction; providing instruction and opportunity for students to better appreciate and understand themselves and each other; and assessing, defining, planning and implementing solutions to address the problems of non-engaged students.

Within these categories, Dr. Choye recommended approximately 42 activities. She also specified who would have responsibility for implementing the activity, as well as the time line.

Among the projects marked with a 1987 time line are investigating the possibilities of reducing class size, particularly in kindergarten and first grade; identifying and communicating ongoing activities which currently enable students to interact effectively with each other; developing and implementing a new parent support system; identifying non-engaged students; and developing a follow-up questionnaire for middle and high school students regarding school attitudes, self-concept, and engagement.

Dr. Choye will meet with the administrative staff in August to decide which recommendations should begin to be implemented first.

Further Studies Ordered Of Proposed Landfill Site

The Somerset County Freeholders have ordered further studies of the site they proposed for a landfill in Montgomery Township.

Consultants for the freeholders have been asked to conduct a traffic study, to study water runoff from the site, and to determine whether ash and dust particles being trucked into the site will become airborne and be hazardous to health. The decision to postpone a vote until these additional studies are completed came a day after a public hearing on the proposal which was jammed with Montgomery and Hillsborough residents and officials.

Somerset County is considering a 155-acre tract located off Route 206 just south of the Belle Mead railroad bridge. The landfill would hold ash from the county's proposed incinerator and would be in operation in 1990 or 1991.

The site is part of a larger tract on both sides of the highway on which the Belle Mead Development Corp. proposes a mixed use development, which would include 1,400 housing units, a hotel, office and retail space. Affordable units under the township's Mt. Laurel compliance plan would be included in the housing component.

The decision to request additional studies of the consultants will postpone a decision on the landfill another month. The CAR SNAPS POLE, HALTS ROUTE 206 TRAFFIC: When this 1975 sedan snapped a utility pole on Route 206 near Bruere's Hill Friday afternoon, it brought injury to its five Trenton occupants, four traffic summonses against the driver — including drunken driving — and forced the detour of traffic off the busy road for almost five hours.

Somerset Freeholders were scheduled to vote on July 21 on amending their solid waste plan to include the Montgomery tract as the landfill site. That vote is now scheduled to take place in August.

The consultants, Richard A. Alaimo Engineering Co., will meet with Montgomery officials on July 14 and a report will be prepared on that meeting. Copies of the report will be sent to all residents who signed in at the public hearing.

The State Department of Environmental Protection has also agreed to perform a preliminary examination of the site at the county's request.

Car Snaps Rt. 206 Pole; 6 Hurt, Traffic Detoured

Five occupants of a Chrysler sedan were injured when it snapped a utility pole on Route 206 Friday afternoon. Traffic on the busy roadway had to be detoured for almost five hours when wires from the pole fell across a truck traveling behind the car.

The driver of the 1975 Chrysler, Leo Lewis, 54, of Trenton, was charged by Ptl. Robert Buchanan with driving while intoxicated, driving while his license was revoked, careless driving, and having no insurance. He was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a lacerated tongue and facial cuts. At the hospital, samples of his blood were taken and sent to a state police lab for testing.

The driver of the truck following behind the car, George F. Robinson, 29, of Newark, and his passenger, Frank Strain of Woodbridge, both told police that they saw the Chrysler weaving before it left the roadway. The car traveled 82 feet before it struck and snapped the pole on a straight section of 206 just before the crest of Bruere's Hill. Both vehicles were heading north toward Princeton.

Township police said it was obvious the driver of the car, which was "totalled", had been drinking. Mr. Lewis, Capt. Jack Petrone commented, had difficulty standing on his feet and had a balance problem after emerging from the car, and was seen thowing a bottle into the weeds after the accident.

Four passengers in the car, all Trenton residents, were transported by the Princeton First Aid Squad to the Medical Center for treatment. The most seriously injured, Darlene Pierson, 39, was admitted in stable condition with a neck injury. Carl Wilkens, 30, Ralph Smith, 51, and Sheila Shipley, 37, all complained of pain from minor injuries, were treated and released.

Mr. Robinson was treated for bruises and contusions of the shoulder and released. His passenger escaped injury. Their truck, owned by International Furniture Rental of Elizabeth, was not damaged.

When the pole was snapped, it fell in front of the truck, suspended in mid-air hy wires that draped themselves around the truck's cab. Fortunately, commented Sgt. Mario Musso, the Township's Traffic Safety Officer, the wires were telephone wires and not electrical ones. Sgt. Musso said the two occupants had emerged from the truck following the accident — a normal reaction. He added, however, if "hot" wires had come down they might have been seriously injured.

"If you are ever in an accident involving wires, stay put! Don't touch anything," Sgt. Musso warned.

Traffic coming from Princeton had to be detoured left onto Quaker Road. Fortunately, said Capt. Petrone, the portion of Quaker Road out to Lawrence Township had just been opened a half-hour before the 3:33 accident. It had been closed the previous day because of flooding cleanup due to Thursday night's heavy downpour.

Although Bell Telehone repairmen were still on the scene, Capt. Petrone estimated that Route 206 was re-opened to traffic ahout 4½ to five hours after the accident. Assisting Ptl. Buchanan in the police investigation were Sgt. Anthony Gaylord and Ptl. Arthur Villaruz.

Confirmation Received On Green Acres Funds

The Township has received word from the state on "clearance" of the Green Acres funds it was expecting as reimbursement for the purchase of the Mountain Lakes tract.

The sums, as announced by Mayor Gail W. Firestone at Monday night's Township Committee meeting, include $1,733,100 in a 10-year, two percent loan and $577,700 as an outright grant. "This is good news," Mayor Firestone remarked, adding that there had been concern that the gift which was used for the purchase of the park last December might have jeopardized receipt of the Green Acres funds.

Committee voted unanimously to authorize the expenditure of $850,000 to acquire the house and remaining six acres to complete the Mountain Lakes Park. Mayor Firestone said that with the $2.3 million gift from the Willard Trotter Case Johnson Foundation, the Green Acres funds, funds raised by the Friends of Princeton Open Space and a new foundation proposed to acquire and manage the house itself, the project will require very few dollars from the taxpayer.

Committeeman Thomas Poole voted for the capital ordinance, because he was persuaded "that the money will be forthcoming and there will be minimal expense to the taxpayer." But he added that he "doesn't feel the house is a necessary addition to the enjoyment of Mountain Lakes."

Garbarge Strike Plans

The garbage strikc that might have materialized last weck is still a possibility this week.

The midnight, June 30, deadline was pushed up to last Monday night to allow for the Fourth of July holiday, and then extended again to Tuesday, as TOWN TOPICS was going to press. Bargaining between the Teamsters Union that represents the haulers and disposal companies around the state was continuing, with some progress reported at reaching an agreement.

If a strike were to be called, it would not affect Borough residents, who receive municipality-wide collection from National Waste Disposal, a non-union company. According to Township Administrator James J. Pascale, a strike would only affect those Township residents who have individual pick-up from Higgins Disposal Service, the only unionized company presently operating in the Township.

Contingency plans announced last week for disposal of wet or putrescible garbage in dumpsters at the Sewer Operating Committee's River Road landfill site would be in effect this week, should the strike materialize. The dumpsters would be available on Mondays from 8-7 and Saturdays from 8 to 3, starting on the first applicable day after the strikc begins.

Funds for Larsen Tract. In a related development, Mayor Firestone announced that the Township had been notified that its "pre-application" for a Green Acres loan of $137,500 for purchase of the Larsen tract had "qualified."

The property is a five-acre parcel that juts into the Autumn Hill Reservation and is located just off the gas pipeline that borders the tract on the south. There was a vacant house on the property, which burned down several years ago. To arrive at a price, the Township will get two formal appraisals for the property and then negotiate with the Larsen family.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Man at Pops Concert

Paul S. Szakats, 56, of Van Wyck Drive, Princeton Junction, suffered a heart attack Saturday night while attending the pops concert and fireworks display. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Princeton Medical Center emergency room.

Mr. Szakats was seated in a lawn chair with his family when he began feeling ill shortly after 7 p.m., according to eyewitness accounts. A doctor was sought in the crowd, and someone ran to the podium to summon help. The Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad was standing by, and members rushed to give cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to Mr. Szakats while the rescue vehicle was maneuvered into position to take him to the hospital.

PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLAR Julie Leegwater-Kim of Montgomery Road, Skillman poses on the south lawn of the White House with her parents Samuel and Hendrica Kim. While in Washington she also received an award from the Korean ambassador as a Republic of Korea Scholar. Following a summer in France teaching violin, the Stuart School graduate will enter Princeton University to concentrate in molecular biology and music.

Mr. Szakats was a vice president of Morgan Bank in New York City. Born in Hungary, he was a 1954 graduate of Dickinson College in Pennsylvania and attended the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.

Surviving are his wife, Brigitte Juppe Szakats; a daughter, Christiane Szakats-Nagel; two sons, Stephen of Princeton and John Paul at home; and a grandson.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Burial was private. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Association, Mercer County Chapter 1819, South Broad Street, Trenton 08610.

Inn Busboy Is Charged With Crack Possession

A busboy at the Nassau Inn has been charged by Borough police with possession of four vials of crack.

Paul Williams, 18, of Trenton, was released and his papers have been sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for possible Grand Jury action.

Ptl. Victor Fasanella responded when a manager of the Inn called police at 11:08 Friday night to report that he believed he had witnessed a drug deal take place in the Inn. The suspect was questioned by Ptl. Fasanella who later recovereo the vials of crack in the busboy's right shoe.

Williams was taken to headquarters and charged.

Four Shoplifters Charged. Four Princeton residents have been charged with shoplifting items valued at $83.43 early Friday morning from the WaWa Store on University Place.

They are Ella Kidd, 27, of Shirley Court; Leon Green, 29, Nicky Green, 25, and Pamela Green, 28, all of Juniper Row. In addition, Pamela Green was charged with possession of cocaine when police, during processing, found a small quantity of coke in a druggist fold in her possession.

An employee of the store had ealled police at 4 a.m., reporting that four suspects had left the store with a large carrying bag filled with items they had not paid for. He supplied a description and the license number of the tan Chevrolet they drove off in.

A short time after the information had been radioed to area patrol units, Township police notified the Borough that they had stopped the suspect car in the Princeton Community Village. When Borough police responded they saw, in plain view, on the rear floor of the car a large quantity of frozen foods and miscellaneous items — all bearing WaWa price tags. Included among the items were cigarettes, batteries, Tylenol, frozen fish and ice cream.

After the suspects and the stolen merchandise had been identified by the employee, the four suspects were arrested and taken to police headquarters.

Hummel Figures Stolen From Center Gift Store

Thirteen Hummel-Goebel porcelain figurines, valued at $2,308, were stolen last week from Jordan's Gift Shop in the Princeton Shopping Center. Police said someone is believed to have opened the door to an unlocked showcase and removed the figurines during business hours.

A wrought iron chair valued at $128 was reported stolen last week from a rear patio area of a Westerly Road home. It was one of eight similar chairs on the patio.

A 25-inch, stuffed dog valued at $37.50 was shoplifted last week from a shelf in The Country Mouse on Nassau Street, and a hand-woven, turquoise and pink hammock worth $200 was taken overnight from the rear porch of a Bayard Lane home.

A man's five-speed, unlocked bicycle was stolen overnight last week from the rear porch of a John Street home. Police have not received a value but described it as an older bike.

Car Stolen, Recovered. The 1986 Honda of a Hamilton Township resident was stolen last week from Hulfish Street while the owner was dining in a restaurant. The victim told police that a spare key had been hidden in the car.

The next day, Borough police were notified by West Windsor police that the $10,000 car had been recovered on Wellington Drive in Princeton Junction. Twenty dollars had been removed from the car's center console and there was damage to the driver's side door which police believe came into contact with some type of masonry object.

A resident of Wellington Drive had called West Windsor police after seeing the strange (to the neighborhood) car pull up to the curb and the driver walk away. The suspect is described as a young, athletically built, white male, just under six feet tall, wearing a white shirt and dark shorts.

Three Teenagers Charged With Series of Muggings

Two 19-year-old Somerset residents and a 15-year-old Franklin Township juvenile have been charged with a series of muggings early last week in the Borough.

The two older youths, Joseph Roach and Andre Key, have been released in $1,500 bail and await possible indictment from a Mercer County Grand Jury.

The juvenile, later released to his parents, will be processed by the Borough juvenile officer.

According to police, the three first entered Victor's Pizzeria, 86 Nassau Street, late last Tuesday evening and got involved in an argument with some customers. Roach is alleged to have punched a patron in the face and snatched a gold chain from his neck. The victim called police and he joined them in a search for the suspects.

In the meantime, the three surrounded a pedestrian on Vandeventer Avenue, after fleeing from the pizza parlour. Police said they demanded money from the second victim and ripped open his pockets. Finding nothing, they continued down Nassau Street.

The trio then allegedly stole $5 from a third victim, whom they encountered in a phone booth. Police said none of the victims was injured.

A short time later, Roach and Key were observed on Moore Street, apprehended and arrested. They were each charged with two counts of robbery and one of attempted robbery.

The juvenile, who managed to escape when police approached, was apprehended about a half-hour later and charged with juvenile delinquency — namely, robbery and attempted robbery.

building at 205 Nassau Street became an easel on two occasions last week for someone who wrote obscene messages on the front door and inside the building.

The first time, according to police, obscene pictures were drawn with some type of black magic marker on the front door, inside hallway and doors off the hallway. Two days later, between 11:30 Friday night and 1 Saturday morning, more obscene messages were written with the same type of marker on the front door and various other places on the building.

One of the remarks was an ethnic one, according to Capt. Thomas Michaud. He said police have a suspect and the incident is still under investigation.

Princeton Man Stabbed In Friday Night Fight

A Princeton resident was stabbed during a fight in Trenton Friday night and his brother was arrested for drug possession less than an hour later.

James Tkacs, 33, of 252 N. Harrison Street, was later listed in stable condition in St. Francis Hospital after he was admitted to the operating room in critical condition. Tkacs had been rushed to the hospital at 9:04 p.m. after he was stabbed three times in the chest during a fight with two men at Centre and Furman Streets in Trenton.

A witness told police that two black men had attacked Tkacs on the corner. One was described as about 30, 6-2; the other as being almost a foot shorter.

The victim's older brother, George E. Tkacs, 35, of the same Harrison Street address, was arrested at 9:45 p.m. by Trenton police who charged him with possession of heroin and cocaine.

The elder Tkacs was apprehended at the intersection of Centre and Federal Streets, where, police said, he had attempted to avoid detection by discarding two glassine packets believed to contain cocaine and an aluminum foil pack believed to contain heroin. Trenton detectives James Taylor and Robert Cochran are continuing the investigation.

Nassau Street Traffic Will Be Council Topic

Borough Council is expected to discuss, at its Tuesday, July 14, meeting, several recommendations by the Traffic and Transportation Committee aimed at relieving traffic congestion at the west end of Nassau Street. The west end starts where Route 206 and Mercer Road meet Nassau half a block apart.

The traffic tie-ups in this part of town were the subject of an extensive study prepared by the committee and its chairman, Abbot Low Moffat.

DIRECTING YWCA: Paula Wristen has been named the new executive director of the Princeton YWCA.

Council is planning to take up at least two recommendations from the report: to prohibit left turns from Nassau Street into Bank Street between 7:30-9:30 a.m. and 4-6 p.m., and to move the taxi stand from the south side of Nassau Street to the east side of Palmer Square.

The major thrust of the committee's findings was to establish auxiliary lanes of traffic during morning and evening rush hours. The two recommendations to be discussed Tuesday would help toward establishing this pattern.

VCR, Jewelry Are Stolen From Butler Ave. Home

Articles of jewelry valued at $380 and a $330 VCR were stolen during the weekend from a Butler Avenue home.

Police said the culprit pushed and popped open a side window screen to gain access between 9 Saturday morning and 7 the following morning. Once inside, he removed the VCR from the living room and the jewelry from a rear bedroom.

In one of two entries that took place the same time in the same area of the Township, a Terhune Road home was entered last week through a rear window. Items of unknown value were taken from the kitchen and dining room.

Police report the victim first noticed that a 12-place setting of silverware was missing from a china closet drawer. Also taken was a stereo lamp. A complete list of what was taken has not yet been submitted to the police.

A $200 watch and $100 in cash from a purse were stolen from a Turner Court home, entered through a rear kitchen door. Both were taken from the kitchen.

Capt. Jack Petrone said the entry was discovered in the morning by one of the occupants asleep in the house at the time of the theft. The victim found the kitchen door and a sliding glass door to a den both open.

The occupants of a Jefferson Road home were also asleep when it was entered overnight last week by an intruder who managed to slide open a screen and window at the rear of the house. There was evidence, police said, that drawers in the dining room had been searched.

Six dollars was removed from a purse left in the dining room. Credit cards from the purse were found outside the window and the purse, valued at $20, was recovered in a neighbor's lawn the next morning.

Entry on Moore Street. Borough police list an entry into a Moore Street apartment last week — again while the occupants were asleep. Taken were a $500 VCR and approximately $30 from a purse left on a kitchen chair.

According to Capt. Thomas Michaud, cuts in a window screen reveal the thief had first attempted to enter a bedroom window but the inside window was locked. Failing that, he then went around to other parts of the house until he found a window that was open. Although the VCR was just inside the open window, there was evidence, Capt. Michaud added, that the intruder had ransacked the first-floor rooms.

A corner screen door was forced open to enter a dormitory suite last week in Spelman Hall on the Princeton University campus. A student occupant from Tampa, Fla. told police that $20 had been taken from his wallet in his bedroom which was ransacked. It was unknown if anything had been stolen from the victim's roommate, who was out of town at the time of the entry — between 1:30 and 8:30 last Wednesday morning, July 1.

were the target of vandals last week.

Township police said the shrubbery was destroyed by cutting it some time between 9 Thursday evening and 8 the following morning. An investigation of the incident is continuing.

Five Drivers Are Fined In Traffic Court Here

Five Princeton-area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

Fined $60 each for speeding are Dale M. Horan, 342 Herrontown Road, and James Roney, 301 Knoll Way, Rocky Hill. Fined the same amount for improper turns at an intersection are Meredith Gould, 87 Leigh Avenue, and Ira J. Schoen, 124D Concordia Court, Cranbury. Dennis White, 240 N. Harrison Street, paid $20 for a broken tail light and $20 for an inoperative headlight.

In Borough criminal court last week, Fred Washington, 7 Maple Terrace, was fined $20 and ordered to make $65 restitution for theft.

In Township court last week, Mr. Washington was fined $275, placed on probation for a year and received a 60-day suspended jail sentence for a shoplifting incident in 1982 in a store in the Princeton Shopping Center that has since closed its doors.

Charges of assault against Balfour Merrill, Greenbrier Row, and David S. Coy, 25 Leigh Avenue, were dismissed. A criminal mischief charge against Thomas Arcoleo of Skillman, owner of the Tom Pipecarver & Son Tobacconist store on Spring Street, was also dismissed.

A complaint summons against Mr. Arcoleo had been signed by the owner of a bicycle who had secured her bike [illegible] side the store. Mr. Arcoleo had cut the lock to remove the bike, claiming it was an obstruction to customers attempting to enter his store.

And the Rains Fell

Nearly two inches of rain fell last Thursday night in Princeton. This is half the amount of rainfall that can usually be expected to come down during the whole month of July.

The police closed Quaker Road and River Road for long periods, and several large trees near the Updike Farm on Quaker Road were downed by the high winds.

At 9:55 p.m. a home on Bouvant Drive in the Township was hit by lightning. The owner was downstairs when he heard a loud crash. Going upstairs, he found the electrical outlet in the master bedroom was burned. Outside, there was damage to the wooden shingles and trim at the roof line. Part of the trim was actually blown off, and landed in a tree.

Three fire trucks and 20 volunteer firemen responded to the call. No one was hurt.

Princeton fared better than nearby Ewing Township, where about 50 apartments had to evacuated at the Brookfield Apartments off flooded Western Avenue. Flooding also forced the closing of I-95 in Ewing.

But even Ewing was better off than Mansfield Township, where there were reports that a tornado took down a power line and crashed a tree into a propane gas tank.

Twin Daughters Born At Princeton Hospital

Twin daughters were born to Sheldon Garon and Sherrill Cohen, 29 Berrien Avenue, on June 29. They are among 19 girls and 16 boys born at Princeton Medical Center in the week ending July 2.

Daughters were also born to [illegible] Village of Penn, Levittown; James and Alice Pasterak, RD 2 River Road, Jamesburg, both on June 26; Richard and Betsy Spencer, 17 North Main Street, Cranbury; Paul and Mary Schedl, 45 Washington Street, Rocky Hill; Mark and Ellen Evans, 2 Harrison Lane, all on June 27;

Also to Robert and Lavuita Oneal, 17 General Greene, Trenton, June 28; F. Michael and Susan Lavoie, 27 Marion Road; Paul and Karen Puszynski, 162 Georges Road, Dayton, both on June 30;

LET'S TALK ABOUT

MAPLE WILT
DUTCH ELM DISEASE
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

June, July and August are the best months to look for signs of DUTCH ELM DISEASE or American Elms in New Jersey. Typical symptoms include a rapid yellowing (flagging) and wilting of infected branches throughout the crown and characteristic black streaking in the vascular tissue. Prompt removal of diseased limbs (up to ten feet behind yellowed foliage) is sometimes an effective means of saving or prolonging life of an infected tree. Fungicide treatments are usually not effective once the crown exhibits more than 10% wilt. For best results in the future, control bark beetles with dormant applications of methoxychlor, remove dead or dying elms as soon as they are noticed and debark or spray wood prior to beetle emergence next spring.

Fertilization to maintain vigor is always a good idea.

MAPLE WILT:

Reports abound from throughout the tri-state area regarding foliar wilt on maples (especially Norway Maples). In most cases, symptoms develop during the recent heat wave. Verticillium however has not been involved. Since the problem showed up so rapidly throughout the state environmental stress and winter damage is undoubtedly to blame. For best results water trees deeply during dry weather, prune dead wood to prevent the entrance of wood decay fungi in the future and fertilize to increase vigor.

To keep your trees and shrubs healthy, give WOODWINDS a call (924-3500) for your annual feeding and maintenance. We are glad to be of service!

University Will Appear To Discuss New Road

Representatives of Princeton University are scheduled to appear at the Tuesday, July 14, meeting of Borough Council to discuss the new roadway the Borough hopes to construct behind Davidson's Market. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall.

The proposed roadway would be adjacent to the Engineering School and would lead traffic out of the Davidson's driveway, onto the new artery, out to Olden Street, and then to Nassau Street.

The University is expected Tuesday night to propose an alternative roadway to deal with the traffic situation at Davidson's. Plans will be presented to Council by University officials.

Meanwhile, the Borough announced that 13 additional parking spaces will be created in the rear of the WaWa building across the driveway from Davidson's.

Borough officials had hoped to carve out 20 additional spaces in this area, but Mayor Barbara Sigmund said the creation of the 13 was a compromise worked out with the Murray Place neighbors. This plan would preserve some 25 feet of treed buffering between the parking lot and the rear of houses on Murray Place.

Schools, Administrators Reach Salary Agreement

Under the terms of a new two-year contract, Princeton Regional School District administrators will receive an eight percent salary increase this year, followed by a four percent rise the following year.

The agreement, which covers four principals, three assistant principals, and the director of student services, was ratified by the Board of Education last week. It had previously been approved by the administrators' union, the Princeton Regional Administrators' Association.

Beginning July 1, salaries will be as follows. These figures include the eight percent increase.

High School Principal John Sakala, $68,719; Middle School Principal William Johnson, $64,432; High School Assistant Principal Norman Van Arsdalen, $56,574; High School Assistant Principal Marylu Coviello, $53,333; Community Park Principal Arthur Firestone, $58,717; Riverside Principal William Cirullo, $56,556; Middle School Assistant Principal Robert Copeland, $55,494; and Director of Student Services Charles Huchet, $58,717.

Rockingham Lecture On Events in Revolution

The second of The Rockingham Lectures will be given by the historian, artist and authority on the Revolutionary history of New Jersey, Hap Heins, at 2 p.m. on Saturday. Mr. Heins will speak on "Decisions in Central New Jersey During the Revolution" at Rockingham, Washington's headquarters on Route 518 in Rocky Hill. Discussion will be encouraged, and those attending are urged to bring a picnic to Rockingham before the lecture. Admission is free.

The Rockingham Association is sponsoring a series of free lectures this summer and early fall in order to bring aspects of 18th-century history and life to as large an audience as possible.

Guide to Philadelphia For Bicentennial Visitors

Copies of the "Getting to Philadelphia to Celebrate America" travel guide are now available to help direct visitors into, and around, Philadelphia.

The guide, in its second printing, was produced by the Transportation Council of the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, which is coordinating transportation for the "We the People 200" events. The guide includes a regional map; a detailed map of center city; frequently used SEPTA tourist routes; parking; information centers; key phone numbers; and SEPTA Day Pass information.

The map is designed to help those who must drive into the city, especially out-of-town visitors. Parking around the event sites is limited, and the Chamber urges participants to consider the park-and-ride opportunities explained in the guide and to take public transportation into town.

Diabetes Is Topic

The Princeton Regional Health Department, in conjunction with the Mercer County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association, will sponsor a presentation on diabetes on Monday at 2 in the Suzanne Patterson Center behind Borough Hall.

The presentation will be given by Alicia M. Dougherty R.N., from the Diabetes Association. The topics to be covered include normal metabolism, how glucose and insulin work and how diabetes mellitus alters metabolism. In addition, Ms. Dougherty will describe the signs and symptoms of diabetes and how they area treated. New advances in therapy will be discussed, as well as the services provided by the Mercer County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

The presentation is open to the public at no charge.

Resident Is Honored By Jewish Committee

Dr. Arnold M. Gordon, 10 Oak Place, was presented the Phillip Forman Human Relations Award by the Central New Jersey Chapter of The American Jewish Committee at its annual dinner meeting.

Participants in the annual meeting were Cecilia and Irwin Rosenblum, 7 Maxwell Lane, dinner chairmen; Stephanie Anzel, chapter president; Gail Kaplan of Princeton, nominating committee chairman; Ruth Pellettieri, 243 Mercer Road, who introduced the guest speaker; Walter Gips, Jr., Princeton, Appeal for Human Relations; Rabbi David Gelfand, Har Sinai Temple, Trenton; and Edward Ring, Princeton, presenter of the award.

An active member of The American Jewish Committee for the past 20 years, Dr. Gordon is a member of the Chapter's executive committee and has served as chapter president and dinner chairman. He also serves on the board of directors at Har Sinai Temple and the Jewish Community Center. Dr. Gordon has a long involvement in the Jewish Federation of Trenton, having served as treasurer, vice president, chairman of the executive committee and chairman of the dental division as well as major gifts chairman of the campaign.

A graduate of Temple University undergraduate school, he also graduated from Temple University Dental School and has lived in Princeton for a number of years.

The Phillip Forman Human Relations Award is named for former U.S. Circuit Court Judge Phillip Forman, founder of the Central New Jersey Chapter and chairman of The American Jewish Committee's national foreign affairs committee in the immediate post-World War II years.

Wading Pools Are Open At Two Park Locations

The Recreation Department announces that the John Street and Harrison Street wading pools are open for the summer.

The John Street pool is open Monday through Friday from 9 to 4 until August 21.

The Harrison Street wading pool (which is operated in conjunction with the University-NOW Day Nursery) is open Tuesday through Thursday from 10 to noon and 1 to 4 until August 20.

For further information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

Nature Programs Listed By The Watershed Ass'n

The Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association will hold a series of three nature programs for children ages 3-5. The hour long sessions will be held on Tuesday mornings at the Watershed reserve on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township.

The first, on Tuesday, July 21, is entitled "Trees Are Fun," and participants will explore how tress provide animals with homes and food. On Tuesday, July 21, there will be an "Insect Safari." Equipped with nets, paticipants will search the forests and fields to find such creatures as the click beetle, painted lady and honeybee.

The final program of the series, on Tuesday, August 4, is "Animals' Adventures." Registration is required, and there is a fee. Preschoolers may be registered for a single program or for all three.

An Insect Safari for children age 6-10 will be held on Wednesday, July 22, starting at 10. To register, call 737-3735.

Space in Day Camp. The Watershed Association also has some space available in its Summer Environmental Education Day Camp.

Although most of the groups are filled, there are still a few openings in an Explorers group, a one week program designed for children entering first and second grade. The program includes role-playing, nature games, arts and crafts activities and a wide variety of nature explorations.

The available spaces are in

Discrimination Incident At Community Park Pool

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Is it safe to assume that Blacks do not live in Princeton? Is it safe to assume that there is no black population in Princeton? Tom Breithaupt, manager of the Community Park Pool, obviously assumes just that.

As a lifelong resident of the black community here in Princeton, I was racially discriminated against and verbally abused by Tom Breithaupt at the Community Park Pool.

My friend Tika Madden (another resident of Princeton, I might add) and I had planned for a relaxing day at the pool. Just as we had for the past 20 years, I intended to read my Sunday Times, to write in my journal, to swim a few laps and to catch a few rays.

As we approached the gate, we stood behind a white family and a group of white kids, none of whom were asked if they lived in Princeton. When we reached the gate we were asked to prove our residency. Since neither Tika nor myself drives, we were unable to use a driver's license, and I don't usually bring along a copy of my birth certificate to the pool.

But my question is, "How come NO ONE in front of us was asked if they were residents?" This was not our first time at the pool this summer, and no one ever asked us either. We told Tom Breithaupt our names, where we lived, that we were graduates of Princeton High School, what college we attended and to even look it up in the phone book. All to no avail!

After a long, drawn-out argument with Mr. Breithaupt, we went to the Princeton Township police, where one of the officers knew my family and agreed to escort us back to the pool.

It is quite apparent that Princeton is not a town that has long bypassed racial discrimination, but it is just the opposite. It seems to be regressing. Princeton reminds me of Topeka, Kansas in 1951. Only, instead of Brown vs. The Board of Education in Topeka, it's more like Craig vs. The Recreation Department of Princeton, 1987.

I was both verbally abused and discriminated against racially. I was totally humiliated and frustrated. I had planned on titling my journal entry, "Princeton Community Park Pool — A Great Place to Relax and to Take a Dip in the Pool," but now my journal reads, "Princeton Community Park Pool — A Great Place to Relax and to Take a Dip in the Pool, just as long as you're not Black, because Blacks aren't welcome there!"

A Skateboard Ramp Needed in Princeton

To the Editor, Town Topics:

Summer is here and a growing number of skateboarders will come to skate the main town area of Princeton. Skating is growing in numbers every day and is causing more problems with people skating in town (causing a little havoc).

I think Princeton should construct a half-pipe (skateboard ramp) in one of Princeton's public parks. The City of Virginia Beach has done this and it has moved skaters from streets and sidewalks to the skate ramp, taking the danger out of skateboards flying and hitting a person.

I think that may solve some of the problems Princeton has with skaters with skateboards.

Getting There from Here Not Easy in Princeton

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It's very hard to get from here to there in the Princeton area. No, not because of the traffic, which is terrible, but because of the roads. I know that the way you can tell you are in Princeton is by the bumps, but it wasn't that.

I had reached the Montgomery Shopping Center from my home on the Kingston Road by 8:45 a.m. without difficulty, because, fortunately, I had run out of money and had to stop at the East Nassau Street bank and go via North Harrison Street and Route 206. It was my return that was so difficult.

I turned into the main street of Rocky Hill, where it soon says "DETOUR 1,000 ft." Of course, we all know the bridge is out there and I intended to follow the detour along River Road, but I was met by two saw horses labelled "ROAD CLOSED" (flooded?). There were no further directions, so I congratulated myself on being "local" and knowing how to go by Princeton Avenue, Mt. Lucas, Poor Farm and Herrontown Roads.

As I breezed down the hill to get back to River Road, there was a traffic tangle at the corner, and as I turned into River Road I say why. Huge flames and belching black smoke were bursting from a car ahead. We all turned round and fled back up Herrontown, and I took Bertrand Drive and went into what I consider the "new developments" built there just after the Second World War.

Instinct guided me to the Kingston Road, which was clanging with the sound of oncoming fire engines. There were a few seconds, though, when I thought I was in New England, where "you can't get there from here."

Splashercise Available To Seniors at C.P. Pool

The Recreation Department is holding registration for its Splashercise program for those Princeton residents and season ticket holders who are 60 or older. The program runs on Saturday mornings from 10 to 11, starting this Saturday and ending on August 31.

The cost for the program is $10. Non-Princeton residents without a season permit may register for $20 provided space is available.

Splashercise is an exercise program in the water which is a natural environment for soothing muscles and joints. The water offers gentle resistance which strengthens and tones muscles. The program appeals to non-swimmers, as well as swimmers.

Applications may be picked up at the Recreation Office at 380 Witherspoon Street. For additional information, call 921-9480.

Applications by Thursday For Tennis Tournament

The Mercer County Park Commission will once again sponsor the annual Mercer County Men's Doubles Tennis Tournament at the County's outdoor tennis center in Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The tournament will have an "A" Division for all teams with a 4.5 and above rating, and a "B" Division for all teams with a 4.0 and below rating. Trophies will be awarded to the winning teams and finalists in both divisions.

The single elimination event will begin on Saturday, and continue throughout the week with the finals for the "B" Division on Thursday, July 16, and the "A" Division on Friday, July 17.

Tennis players of all levels are eligible for the tournament. The entry fee is $5 per player for Mercer County residents and $7 per player for non-residents. A new can of tennis balls will be provided by the Tennis Center.

Applications are available at the Outdoor Tennis Center during regular hours; 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., or may be obtained by calling the Park Commission office at 989-6533. The deadline for applications is Thursday before 9 p.m.

For further information, call the Outdoor Tennis Center at 586-9850.

Disney Films Planned On Saturday Mornings

The Recreation Department will sponsor free Walt Disney films on Saturday mornings. The films will be shown at 10 in the John Witherspoon auditorium.

PEOPLE
In the News

Lynn M. Abernethy, 1131 Stuart Road, has graduated from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Two area residents have graduated from James Madison University, Harrisonburg, Va.

They are, Dawn M. Kiss, R.D. 4, and Christine M. Stiefel, 44 Nassau Place, Princeton Junction.

Julia B. Popenoe, daughter of David and Katharine Popenoe, 92 Moore Street, and Jennifer M. Ullman, daughter of Margaret Ullman, 374 Franklin Avenue, and Richard Ullman, 12 Maple Street, have graduated from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio.

Ann Beneduce, 52 Locust Lane, has received the first Women's National Book Association Award honoring women in the book world.

She is consulting editor for children's books and a member of the United States Committee for UNICEF.

James F. Bishop, 33 Richard Court, president of Burke, O'Brien & Bishop Associates, Inc., Princeton, has been elected president of the Marquette University Alumni Association for 1987-88. The association represents nearly 80,000 alumni residing in 50 states and 80 foreign countries.

The first non-Wisconsin resident to hold the office, Mr. Bishop was president of the Marquette Club of New York from 1967 to 1983, regional director of the Alumni Association from 1980 to 1985, and vice president/president elect of the association for the past year.

Minnie Rhodes, Nassau Court No. 6, was honored for dedication and service by the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias and the Grand Court of Calanathe.

Ellen O'Grady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Grady, 76 Sycamore Road, has been named to the Hamilton College Dean's List.

Rachel B. Shteir, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Owen Shteir of Princeton, has graduated from the University of Chicago with a B.A. in Arabic and Middle Eastern Civilization. She spent a year at the Bourguiba Institute in Tunis, Tunisia, and is presently in Cairo, Egypt, on a study grant from the Center for Arabic Studies Abroad.

She will attend the Yale Graduate School in Dramatic Arts in the fall.

Donald J. Loff, of Pennington, has been elected to the board of directors of the New Jersey Easter Seal Society. He is a senior vice president-investments with Prudential-Bache Securities, Princeton.

Harri-Ette O. Bryant, daughter of Joyce H. Bryant of Princeton, has been accepted to North Carolina Wesleyan College in Rocky Mount, N.C. She plans to major in criminal justice.

Louise Smoluchowski, former Princeton resident now living in Austin, Tex., is the author of Lav and Sonya: The Story of the Tolstoi Marriage, published by G.P. Putnam & Sons.

The book consists in part of translations from the diaries of Leo (called "Lav") and Sonya Tolstoi, which Mrs. Smoluchowski has dovetailed to show what each was thinking. The story shows Sonya in a better light than many of the Tolstoi biographers have portrayed her, and also how difficult her husband could be. It also shows how Tolstoi's pupil and disciple Anton Chekov came between them.

Mrs. Smoluchowski is the wife of the astrophysicist Roman Smoluchowski, formerly of the Princeton University faculty and presently at the University of Texas at Austin. This is her first book.

Deer Hunting

ment or the state Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife;

• and agree to park in areas designated by the Township.

Mayor Gail W. Firestone told those attending Monday night's meeting that there will be two public hearings on the proposed amendment, after it is introduced and before final adoption. One will be scheduled in July, and the other in August, so that vacations are accommodated.

A special permit shotgun deer hunting season was recommended by a subcommittee of the Environmental Commission, which took up The Deer Problem following a report of an earlier ad hoc deer committee appointed by former Mayor Winthrop Pike. Concerns over the burgeoning deer population as evidenced by the rising number of deer-car collisions and the damage inflicted by deer to shrubs and gardens as well as the environmental impact of overbrowsing of the open space areas prompted each of these committees to recommend stronger measures be taken to reduce the herd somewhat.

The other side of this coin is that Princeton has as many ardent animal lovers as it does enthusiastic gardeners. For these people, any intentional hunting of the gentle, graceful white tailed deer is anathema. Still others are concerned about allowing shotgun hunting in an area that is as built up as Princeton has become.

Committeeman Thomas Poole, who served on the three-man ad hoc deer committee, said Monday that it was with "some reluctance" that Committee was considering the proposed amendment. "But we have reached a point, with 200 deer-car collisions last year, and 56 already this year, and with our woods and fields being over-browsed, that we have to do something to bring the deer herd within a manageable level."

Asked later how many deer could be expected to be killed within the special three-day period, Mr. Poole said he would have to be convinced that it would be a "significant number — around 150, or 15 percent of the herd" in order to agree to go ahead with the proposal. With a limit of two deer per hunter, that would require 75 hunters.

Mr. Poole acknowledged that "it is all in proportion to the amount of land we get," referring to the number of landowners who will be willing to allow shotgun hunting on their property. At Township Committee Monday night, Nancy Kern, who opposes deer hunting and favors deer birth control, told Committee that she had letters from all the major landowners stating their opposition to hunting on their property.

Mrs. Kern had even obtained agreement from James Unger of Shadow Oaks, developers of the Dravo tract, not to renew the bow hunting lease agreement with an area gun club to hunt the 220-acre wooded property. She reminded Committee of her efforts to keep deer off the roads and away from cars through the use of various reflector and warning devices and said she was willing to continue that effort. She also planned to pursue birth control alternatives.

"I wish we had a birth control method that was feasible and we knew worked," Mr. Poole told her.

Gail Colby, Cherry Hill Road, spoke against "introducing a hunting situation" because it would bring in people from out of town. "Can you limit the number?" she asked. "Can you keep people from Pennsylvania out?" Mr. Schmierer, who drew up the ordinance amendment in consultation with Fish & Game, told her that the permitting is done through the state and is probably not unlimited but open to anyone who qualified, regardless of where they were from.

Ms. Colby said she would not be opposed to off-duty Borough and Township police doing the bunting, and sharpshooters arranged by the Humane Society. The representative from the Humane Society present Monday declined to speak, but the term "sharpshooter" was used several times without definition but in an implied distinction to the ordinary game hunter.

Later Mr. Poole said that in his mind, sharpshooter implied the use of a rifle, which fires a single, more forceful, farther-travelling bullet, whereas a shotgun sends out pellets of lesser impact. In his view, a rifle is more dangerous, because a rifle shot can kill a person.

The question of whether the limited season would invite more unauthorized trespass was also raised. Efforts are underway in the state legislature to increase the mandatory penalty for trespassing from $50 to $500. Until such an amendment to the state hunting code is adopted it was suggested that the municipal judge could be encouraged to hand out the stiffest penalty allowable.

It was also acknowledged that for the individual property owner to catch the trespasser in the act was not easy. The proposed amendment might mean more work for Township police to keep hunters out of property they are not authorized to hunt during the special season, it was suggested.

OBITUARIES

Joseph R. Strayer, a prominent medievalist and for 20 years chairman of the Department of History at Princeton University, died July 2 at Princeton Medical Center after a brief illness. He was 82 and a resident of Princeton.

Dr. Strayer, who retired to emeritus status in 1973, wrote extensively on subjects including taxation, the origins of representative government, and the beginning of modern administrative systems. In April his last book, The Reign of Philip the Fair, published by Princeton University Press in 1980, earned him the Haskins medal of the Medieval Academy of America.

Dr. Strayer was editor-in-chief of the 13-volume Dictionary of the Middle Ages for Charles Scribner and Sons. At Princeton, he had been the first incumbent of the Dayton-Stockton Professorship of History.

His collected Witherspoon lectures, On the Medievol Origins of the Modern Stote (Princeton, 1970), were translated into five languages. Among his most recent publications were Western Europe in the Middle Ages (1954); Feudalism (1965); and The Albigension Crusades (1971).

Dr. Strayer taught courses in 12th- and 13th-century history and English constitutional history on the undergraduate and graduate levels. He was a member of the Historicnl Advisory Committee for the Air Force for five years. He had been a member of the board of directors of the American Council of Learned Societies, an Honorary Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the American Philosophical Society, president of the American Historical Association (1971), and a corresponding fellow of the British Academy. He was president of the Medieval Academy of America from 1966 to 1969.

A native of Baltimore, he attended the Horace Mann School, received his A.B. degree from Princeton in 1925, his M.A. the following year from Harvard and his Ph.D. degree in 1930 from Harvard. While qualifying for his doctorate, he studied during 1928-29 in Paris, and was an instructor at Stevens Institute. In 1935-36, five years after he had joined the Princeton faculty as an instructor, he returned to Paris as a Shreve Fellow to engage in research pertaining to the reign of Philip the Fair.

The University of Caen recognized his work in Norman history by awnrding him an LL.D. in 1957. He also received honorary degrees from Lehigh University (1976) and Princeton University (1980).

At Princeton he was promoted to assistant professor in 1936, associate professor in 1940 and professor in 1942, in which year he also was appointed to the Henry C. Lea Chair in History. He was appointed acting chairman of his department in 1941 and chairman in 1942. In 1949 he relinquished the Lea Professorship to accept an appointment as Dayton-Stockton Professor of History.

Dr. Strayer was a member of the Princeton Borough Council from 1964 to 1967.

Dr. Strayer married the former Lois Curry in 1929. She died in 1984. A son, Charles, died in 1986.

He is survived by Dr. Sylvia L. Thrupp, whom he married in 1986; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Strayer Corson of Fort Washington, Pa.; a brother, George D. Strayer, Jr. of Bellevue, Wash.; 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at the Princeton University Chapel on Saturday at 10 a.m. The Rev. Sue Anne Steffey Morrow, assistant dean of the chapel, will officiate. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Friends of the Princeton University Library, Princeton 08544.

Lucy Staton Easley, 64, of Princeton died June 30 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Patrick County, Va., Ms. Easley lived in the Hopewell and Princeton area for more than 40 years. She was a retired employee of the Henry Chauncey Conference Center at Educational Testing Service.

She was a member of the Second Calvary Baptist [illegible], Hopewell, and the Gospel Chorus, Pastor's Aid Society and Missionary Society of the church. She was also past president of the Flower Club at the church.

Wife of the late Emanuel Staton, she is survived by a sister, Mae Vaughn of Virginia; and three brothers, McKinley, Lee, and a twin, Lewis, all of Virginia.

The service was held at Second Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell, the Rev. Ronald Owens, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Bassett, Va.

Agnes Odend'hat Frohling, 95, of 12 Stockton Street, died July 1 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Frohling was born in Baltimore, Md., and had lived in Princeton for 65 years. She was the oldest surviving grnduate of St. Agnes College in Maryland. She was also a graduate of Johns Hopkins School of Nursing and the Peabody School of Music, both in Baltimore, Md. She was a piano teacher and performer and retired from her nursing career in 1960.

She was also an avid collector and dealer in antiques.

Wife of the late Edward A. Frohling, she is survived by four daughters, Elizabeth Fenton of Princeton, Marie Rawlings of North Andover, Mass., Lucille Frohling of Washington, D.C. and Agnes Jackson of Baltimore, Md.; three sons, Edward S. Frohling of Tucson, Ariz., John B. Frohling of Glen Ridge, and Lucien O. Frohling of North Caldwell; 23 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Paul's Church. Burial was in the parish cemetery under the direction of the Kimhle Funeral Home. Memorial contrihutions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, PO 529, Princeton 08542.

George (Steve) Taylor, 73, of Quarry Street, died June 30 at his home.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Taylor was a lifelong resident and operated a taxi service here for more than 25 years. He was a member of First Baptist Church and its trustee board. He was also a charter member of the Cavaliers Cluh and its treasurer for 28 years.

A U.S. Army veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Charles Robinson Post No. 182 of the American Legion and a member of the Senior Citizens Club.

Surviving are his wife, Lillie Carraway Taylor, and two sisters, Edythe Harmon of Princeton and Blanche Chase of Toms River.

The service was held at First Baptist Church, the Rev. Michael Nabors, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Memorial Park in Robbinsville.

Walter W. Marting, 82, died June 23 at Scarlet Oaks Retirement Center, Cincinnati, Ohio. He was a graduate of Princeton University, Class of 1927, and lived at 35 Bank Street for 28 years until April, 1986.

Mr. Marting did accounting and tax work and was a frequent substitute teacher at Princeton High School through his 79th year. He was a member of, and committee chairman for, the First Church of Christ Scientist.

Memorials may be made for the benefit of Scarlet Oaks General Endowment and sent to Mr. Marting's sister, Mrs. Miriam Fisher, 440 Lafayette Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio, 45220.

Congratulations to Schlott President's Club Member Jo-Anne Green.

In real estate for only three years, Jo-Anne Green already knows what it takes to be successful. It takes a high energy level, a genuine sensitivity of people's wants and needs and tremendous knowledge, both of real estate and of the community. It's no wonder Jo-Anne has been a consistent Million Dollar Club member and the Top Sales Representative in her office many times. And, by listing and selling over $8 million in properties in 1986, Jo-Anne has earned a prestigious place among Schlott's top sales representatives by being named to the company's President's Club.

For all your real estate needs, call one of the area's finest. Call Jo-Anne Green in Schlott's Princeton Junction office.

MOSTLY PRINCETON

WESTERN SECTION PRINCETON — extremely desirable location — a particularly attractive house with 3 bedrooms, 3 full baths, super modern kitchen, gracious cathedral living room opening to a deck, great big family room opening to a terrace and all kinds of other special features.

Offered in the high $400's

COUNTRY LIVING WITHIN WALKING DISTANCE of community activities. This unique Princeton house is part of a condominium with no worry about outside upkeep, but your own building. There is a large cathedral height living room with fireplace, separate modern kitchen and appealing loft, den or study plus master bedroom and bath on each floor ... garage and basement.

Offered in the upper $200's

HERE'S A HOUSE YOU HAVE TO SEE in a particularly attractive western section neighborhood that will appeal to adults and kids alike. This contemporary, with its secluded fenced garden and swimming pool, has a huge screened porch. The house has 2-zone heating and air conditioning and an interesting plan that allows for flexibility. If your children are older, there is a very separate master suite. If younger, there is a master suite near the children's rooms. Don't miss this very special place — lots of living areas ... up to 5 bedrooms.

Offered in the upper $400's

A Little Research into Princeton's History Reveals Origins of Many of Its Street Names

What's in a name — a Princeton street name, for instance?

The question was prompted by the Planning Board's request of Princeton Community Housing that it find a name other than "Herrontown Green" for the housing development between Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road. Planners said that police dispatchers could confuse Herrontown Green with Herrontown Road and Herrontown Lane, which are east of Route 206, causing potential delay for fire and rescue vehicles.

PCH officials pointed out that the single road through the development will be called "Griggs," in honor of the corner restaurant owned and operated by Mrs. Burnetta Peterson's father, the late Burnett Griggs. The restaurant and Mr. Griggs' home were replaced by a gas station almost 30 years ago, when Avalon Place — now Paul Robeson Place — was extended to Wiggins Street and urban development re-arranged that section of town. The land off Route 206 on which the housing development will be built was also owned by Mr. Griggs, and was sold by Mrs. Peterson and her husband to PCH for this project.

Future residents of this development will have an address on Griggs Street or on one of the courtyards around which the townhouses are to be clustered. The name of a development as a whole sometimes changes over time — "Battle Park," developed in the 1920's and 30's is no longer thought of as that — while the street names — Battle, Ober, Haslet and Newlin — remain.

A College Town. While PCH endeavors to come up with a substitute, it is interesting to note how other roads in the community got their names. Not surprisingly, many are derived from the university. All but five of the 17 presidents of the College of New Jersey/Princeton University have streets named after them.

Chronologically, they are Jonathan Dickinson, Jonathan Edwards, Samuel Finley, John Witherspoon, James Carnahan, John Maclean, James McCosh, Francis L. Patton, Woodrow Wilson, John Grier Hibben, and Harold W. Dodds. Missing are Aaron Burr Sr., Samuel Davies, Samuel Stanhope Smith, Ashbel Green, Robert F. Goheen and William G. Bowen.

Although Green Street might be thought to have been named after Ashbel Green, it actually was named for James Green, the developer who opened Jackson Street (which disappeared along with Griggs Corner Restaurant), Quarry and Green Streets. James Carnahan, who lived from 1775-1859 and was president from 1823-1854, is described in Alexander Leitch's A Princeton Companion as "a man of simple solid virtues whose 31-year tenure as the ninth president of the College was the longest in its history."

However, his tenure was marked by a period of decline, and were it not for the advice and counsel of John MacLean, the first professor of chemistry who was named vice president and succeeded him as president, President Green might have closed the college altogether. Later, he told his family he hoped he would be remembered for planting the trees in the front campus.

More University Influence. Nassau Street, the earliest street in Princeton, was known at various times in the 17th century as the King's Highway, Main Street and High Street. It ultimately derived its name from Nassau Hall, the first building of the College of New Jersey. Similarly, University Place — orginally known as Railroad Place, from the spur line that came to the foot of Blair Arch on campus, — College Road, Faculty Road, Princeton Avenue and Ivy Lane are all derived from the institution that played such an important role in the development of the town.

The FitzRandolph family, early Princeton settlers who gave the land for the College of New Jersey, are remembered, as is Dean Andrew West, first dean of the Graduate College whose plan to locate the graduate school away from the undergraduate campus was at odds with President Wilson's idea of integrating the two. Murray Place takes its name from James O. Murray, first dean of the faculty.

Guyot Avenue is named for Arnold Guyot, first professor of geology and geography at Princeton, who also has three mountains, one glacier, a moon crater and the hall housing the geology department at Princeton named for him.

Princeton football is commemorated in Caldwell Drive, named for Charles W. Caldwell Jr., head coach of Princeton University football from 1945-56; Poe Road, named for the six sons of John Prentiss Poe, Class of 1854, who contributed to the success of football teams over a 20-year period beginning in 1882 and were the special nemesis of Harvard and Yale; and Roper Road. The last is named for William W. Roper, varsity football coach early in this century and then from 1919-1930, who is described by Mr. Leitch as "a vibrant personality" and a football evangelist who gave fiery talks at football rallies.

U.S. Presidents. Like other towns across the nation, Princeton has its share of streets named for U.S. presidents. Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Madison, Lincoln, Wilson, Cleveland, PLACENAME: Not necessarily the local trysting place, as many assume it was, Lover's Lane is probably a corruption of "Loofburrow's Lane," after the family that lived in the house that preceded Guernsey Hall. It was originally Olden Lane, because it led from Stockton Street to the Olden family property, Olden Manor, now the home of the director of the Institute for Advanced Study. With the opening of the Princeton and Kingston Turnpike (later Mercer Street) in 1807, it no longer was the access to the Olden property, and it then took the name of the family to whose house it did lead — the Loofburrows. Wanda Gunning is the source of this bit of street name lore.

News of The THEATRES

Female Version Readied Of "The Odd Couple"

The female version of Neil Simon's comedy The Odd Couple will open Saturday at Artists Showcase Theatre, Trenton. The production is by The Shakespeare '70 Company of Trenton.

The Odd Couple features Barbara Dyett as Florence Unger, the recently separated super-neat friend who moves in on the not-so-neat Olive Madison, played by Debbie Lawler. Ms. Dyett was last seen at Showcase as Rosalie in Carnivol. Ms. Lawler was last seen in Murder at the Vicoroge.

The female version of The Odd Couple was re-written by Neil Simon and presented on Broadway last season. The play parallels the male version, but the audience is treated to the woman's side of the battle of the sexes.

Ted Hoagland is directing the production. His last effort in the area was Black Comedy for the Princeton Community Players. Judith Parrish is the stage manager, and the sets are designed by Gerald E. Guarnieri, chairman of the Trenton Arts Commission.

Featured in the cast are Raymond Kerollis as Manolo and Ken Paris as Jesus, the two Castillian brothers. Cheryl Doyle of New Hope plays Mickey the Cop, Erin Marshall is Vira, Betty Coleman is Silvie and Kimberlyn Montford is Renee.

The Odd Couple will run for three wekends, Friday to Sunday, through July 25. All performances are at 8:30 except that on Sunday, July 19, which is at 7:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Shakespeare '70 at 392-1704.

Sartre Play Readied At George St. Playhouse

No Exit by Jean-Paul Sartre will open this week in the Stage II theater at the George Street Playhouse.

Set in hell, this play is a portrayal of the inner conflicts and tortures which plague the characters through life, and the after-life. In Sartre's hell, words are the weapons of torture and actions cause agony.

The female roles will be played by actresses from the National Shakespeare Conservatory, and the male role will be assumed by Stephane Cornicard, who will also direct the production. Cornicard is a native of Normandy, France and has performed and directed in France, England, and the United States.

No Exit will be presented in repertory through August 6.

'Noises Off' Takes Audience into Center of Backstage Confusion

Have you ever marveled at how the clutter of props, costumes and set pieces and the personal and inter-personal chaos of actors, directors and stage managers' lives lead to what the audience sees on stage when the curtain rises?

Michael Frayn's Noises Off, a riotous farce playing for one more weekend at Princeton Summer Theatre on the University campus, takes its audience into the center of the theatrical maelstrom to see both onstage and backstage what the audience usually doesn't see, as a frenetic English acting troupe tours the provinces.

PERSONAL ENTANGLEMENTS: From left are David Zabel, Kay Gayner, Anne Torsiglieri and Sebastian Knowles in a scene from "Noises Off," the first production of Princeton Summer Theatre. The Michael Frayn comedy plays again Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 at Murray Theatre and Sunday at 4:30. (Kristin Branson photo)

These nine characters' personal lives and romantic passions become far more engrossing than their roles "onstage," as Frayn takes us from a desperate, late-night final dress rehearsal to the frenzied backstage shenanigans during a performance one month later to the even more desperate "onstage" scene six weeks later in the tour. We know more and more about what is going on among the characters "on stage" each time we see the same act of the play-within-the-play performed.

Farce could hardly be constructed more cleverly than this. In its wit and its amusing inter-play between theater and life, Noises Off is reminiscent of Tom Stoppard (The Real Thing, The Real Inspector Hound), though the comic set-ups and pay-offs, the timing and the comic build-up rival Kaufman and Hart (You Can't Take It With You, The Man Who Came to Dinner) for zany hilarity and skillfully fashioned humor.

Noises Off, a long-running hit on Broadway three years ago and in London's West End before that, is an ambitious undertaking for this mixed group of Princeton University alumni and undergraduates and local talent. The British accents, the extraordinary chaos of entrances and exits (what other farce can boast as many as seven (!) doors that seem to be constantly bursting open and slamming shut?), the need for precision and lightning-fast comic timing, the abundance of bizarre props, from fire axes to sardine plates, that baffle the players-within-the-play, and an array of quirky theatrical characters all pose extraordinary challenges for even the most intrepid of theatre companies.

Under the direction of David Ganon, however, this group succeeds in presenting a highly entertaining production. The timing is not always perfect, and the complex entanglements of plot are not always completely clear and readily comprehensible, but careful and thorough preparation is apparent here, and the show is relentlessly funny and engaging.

Competent Cast. The cast is young, but obviously experienced and competent. Sebastian Knowles, playing the role of the womanizing director (Lloyd Dallas) of this ill-fated British theatre troupe, is able to wield considerable authority with a rich and sardonic voice, and before the evening is over, we learn, along with Dallas, why directors should never go backstage during performances!

Kay Gayner energetically plays the part of Dotty Otley, a dangerously amorous aging actress entangled in the telephone cord, her plates of sardines and her romances, while David Zabel delivers an athletic, high-spirited rendition of Garry Lejeune, Dotty's original passion, who frequently finds himself entangled by his own tongue.

mindless, sultry starlet who carries on with her imbecilic lines and gestures whether they make sense or not, and Anne Torsiglieri, as one of the few voices of reason amidst the insanity, both present strong, intelligent performances.

Carol Kehoe as the nervous young assistant stage manager, Robert Bonotto as a bumbling supporting actor full of uncertainties, and Peter Campbell as the dim-witted company stage manager, carpenter, props man and standin, all provide humorous sympathetic characters and memorable moments of comedy.

Especially effective and most convincing is Gene Davidson, the senior member of this cast, in the role of a deaf, alcoholic veteran of the theatre who has some difficulty making his entrances on time.

The intelligent, functional set design is by Doc Winston, with lighting design by Jeff Jennings and obviously strong support from a skillful crew, which spends two busy intermissions transforming the set from "onstage" to "backstage" to again to "onstage."

Anyone who has ever been involved in the production of a play, or anyone who has ever wondered what it is that might be going on that the audience doesn't see, should not miss Michael Frayn's Noises Off this Thursday, Friday, Saturday at 8 p.m., or Sunday at 4:30.

This exciting opening bodes well for Princeton Summer Theatre's season ahead, which will wrap up Noises Off this weekend and continue with three great classic comedies: Moliere's Don Juon, Shaw's Arms and the Man, and Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream. Call 452-4950 for reservations.

"The Belle of Amherst" At Mill Hill Playhouse

Mill Hill Playhouse opens its summer season Friday with Catherine Allgor starring in Belle of Amherst, a play based on the life of Emily Dickinson.

Born in 1830 in Amherst, Mass., Miss Dickinson spent all of her life in Amherst, where she died in 1886 in the house in which she had been born. From her mid-thirties on, she kept increasingly to her home and received fewer and fewer visitors; however, she was not isolated.

Her correspondence was copious, and at one time there were close to 70 persons with whom she communicated regularly. On her death, her sister Lavinia found more than 1700 poems in Emily's locked bureau, and with the efforts of Mabel Loomis Todd, to whom she turned for editorship, they were finally published by Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

Performances are Friday and Saturday at 8, and Sunday at 3. Reservations may be made by calling 989-3038.

Summer Season Set By Mill Hill Playhouse

For the first time, Mill Hill Playhouse in Trenton will produce its own summer season. Lila H. Cipriano, theater director, has selected productions for summer entertainment.

The season begins on July 10, 11, and 12 with Belle of Amherst starring Catherine Allgor. It is a play based on the life of Emily Dickinson and her poetic genius.

On July 17, 18, and 19, the Capital City Dance group will present their energetic interpretations of jazz, ballet, modern and ethnic dance. Night of Jonuory 16th, co-sponsored by Mill Hill Playhouse and the Trenton State College Theater Department under the direction of Jack McCullough, will be presented July 24 through August 2.

In this play the actors must learn two endings as members of the audience will be selected for the jury. The end of the play will depend upon their verdict.

Alice in Wonderlond, a children's play, features the Make-Believe Players, a group of talented children under the direction of Marilyn Gerold of Bucks County. Performances are scheduled for August 8 and 9, The Chacoclote Saldier, a Silver Dollar production under the direction of Fred Miller, is a classic comic opera and a musical adaptation of Shaws' Arms and the Man. It will be presented on August 14, 15, and 16. The final production will be a new comedy by area plawright Don Evans, scheduled for August 20 through September 5.

Reservations and tickets are available by calling the Mill Hill Playhouse, 989-3038.

Musical Revue Planned Of Tom Lehrer Songs

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre will present Tomfaalery, a musical revue based on the work of social and political satirist Tom Lehrer. The revue will be performed weekends beginning July 17 through August 15.

David Goldstein, a newcomer to the Villagers stage, will direct. He will be assisted by musical director Larry Rothweiler, whose work was seen earlier this season in The Best Little Wharehause in Texas.

Tomfoalery features many of Mr. Lehrer's more memorable songs including "Be Prepared," "Poisoning Pigeons in the Park," "Pollution," "The Elements," "I Got It from Agnes," "New Math," "Silent E," "The Masochism Tango" and "The Vatican Rag" which established him as a cult figure in the late 50's and the 60's.

Tomfoolery was conceived and originally produced by Cameron Mackintosh in London in 1980, followed by successful runs in Washington, D.C. and Boston before its Off-Broadway debut at The Village Gate.

The cast includes Jeffrey Babey (seen recently as King Herod in the Villagers production of Jesus Christ Superstar) David McMenemie, Perry Morgan, Deborah Stein and Kristina Wetzel. Mr. Goldstein and Mr. Rothweiler will also appear with the cast.

Performances are Fridays, Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30, except Sundays July 26 and August 9th, which are 2 p.m. matinees. Tickets are $9 Fridays, $10 Saturdays and $8.50 Sundays. Student and Senior Citizen discounts are available for Friday and Sunday performances only. For further information and ticket reservations, call the box office at (201) 873-2710.

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre is located behind the Franklin Municipal Complex, 475 DeMott Lane, in the Somerset section of Franklin Township.

Double Features Listed For Kresge Auditorium

Bertrand Tavernier's A Sunday in the Country and Gavin Millar's Dreamchild comprise the double feature at Kresge Auditorium, running this Wednesday through Friday, July 10.

A Sunday in the Country, the 1984 French film from the director of Round Midnight, takes place on a summer day in 1912. An aged French painter (Louis Decreux) of the second stature, who has not long to live, entertains his children and his grandchildren at his country home. A kind of Don Quixote in reverse, Monsieur Ladmiral recalls his happy marriage, reflects on his role as parent and painter, and resolves to continue his quiet quest.

In flashbacks that are like a family album Tavernier shows us how Ladmiral chose the safe path as a painter, instead of taking the risks that were taken by artists like Seurat and Monet.

Dreamchild was the surprise hit of last year's Summer Cinema series, and returns by popular demand, since many were turned away at its showings a year ago. Written by Dennis Potter, it is set in 1932, the year of the Lewis Carroll Centenary. The 80-year-old Alice Hargreaves (Coral Browne), the ten-year-old girl who had inspired the Rev. Charles Dodgson to write the Alice adventures, arrives in New York to receive an honorary degree from Columbia University.

Now an imperious dowager, she, with her travelling companion is besieged by the press and by a charming young hustler (Peter Gallagher). Exhausted by the bustle of America and bewildered by her celebrity status, Mrs. Hargreaves entertains the first glimpses of her own imminent mortality, and her memory is drawn back to the summer of 1862 when, as ten-year-old Alice Liddell, she was the inspiration for the love-struck imagination of the Rev. Dodgson (Ian Holm). As her memory is unlocked, she finds herself slipping into Wonderland as well, and in dream sequences she enters the story world that Dodgson created for her.

Brazilian director Hector Babenco's Kiss of the Spider Womon will open the Summer Cinema double hill for Saturday and Sunday. In a prison cell somewhere in Latin America, two very different men find their lives linked: Molina (William Hurt), an effeminate homosexual and incurable romantic; and Valentin (Raoul Julia), a political activist who is both macho and puritanical. To make their hell more bearable, Molina regales his cell mate with purple passages from old romantic films, dripping with glamor, romance and intrigue.

These sequences, which actually form a film-within-the-film, starring Brazilian actress Sonia Braga as the sultry heroine, form a provocative counterpoint to the main narrative, and a basis for Babenco's "love story" which redefines conventional notions of masculinity and provides an unusual commentary on the function of cinema as escapist entertainment. Actor William Hurt won the 1985 Academy Award as Best Actor for his multi-faceted and non-condeseending portrayal of Molina.

Alan Parker's Birdy, based on the William Wharton novel and starring Matthew Modine, will be the co-feature with Kiss of the Spider Womon. The film tells the story of two working-class kids from South Philadelphia, one of whom (Modine) wants to become a bird. But the only flying he does is in Vietnam, where he's injured and brought back to the States in an apparent catatonic state.

Single admission to any double feature in Summer Cinema is $3.75 at the door. A discount coupon book — 10 admissions for $27.50 — saves 25 percent on single admissions. For coupon books, screening times, and further information, call the McCarter box office, 683-8000, or visit Kresge Auditorium during the hours Summer Cinema movies are shown.

Woman's Dream Is Focus Of New Play at Rutgers

Ethel Zupp's Amozing Cheesecoke: True Art in the Kitchen, opens Thursday at Rutgers University's Levin Theater.

Stage, screen and television actress Alice Spivak stars in this portrayal of an ordinary, middle-aged woman who holds a "life-everlasting dream" to be remembered.

Written by Adriana Trigiani, the plot is a magical development of Ethel's dream. In the first act, she talks with the audience from her Bangor, Pa., kitchen about what she will do to be remembered and how her lover, Bones Collier (played by Theo Barnes), needs to be convinced to help her. In act two, the muu-muu clad Ethel sets her plans for immortality into motion.

Ethel Zupp's Amozing Cheesecoke is directed by Edward Stern, a faculty member of Rutgers' Mason Gross School of the Arts. Ron Kadri, Andrew J. Segaloff and Rob Gorton share the credit for creating a homey, inviting kitchen full of special effects.

Ms. Spivak, also a coach and director, played the role of Bananas in the original production of House of Blue Leoves. She won the Joseph Jefferson Award as best actress for Plazo Suite.

Mr. Barnes' most recent New York appearance was in Down an Alley Filled with Cots. He is also a playwright and a translator of ancient Greek theatrical literature.

Ethel Zupp's Amozing Cheesecake is the second of three new plays to be produced by the professional Levin Theater Company this summer as part of the premiere season of Rutgers SummerFest, a festival of music, dance and drama running through August 9.

The play will preview Wednesday, July 8, and continue through July 19 at the Philip J. Levin Theater in the Rutgers Arts Center, George Street at Route 18 in New Brunswick. Tickets are $10. Performances begin at 8 p.m. The theater will be dark Monday, July 13.

For more information and to charge tickets by phone, call (201) 932-7511.

PIANO POWER: Six women at six pianos will perform Liszt's "Hexameron" as the finale of a piano gala on Monday celebrating the opening of the Rutgers SummerFest Piano Institute. Institute director Ilana Vered (top left) is joined by John Bettenbender, dean of Mason Gross School of the Arts and artistic director of Rutgers SummerFest, and several participants. Clockwise from upper right are Rena Fruchter and (seated) Nadia Bohachewsky, Alison Deane, institute administrator Laura Karpman and Ann-Marie McDermott.

MUSIC

Piano Gala Is Planned At Rutgers SummerFest

A piano gala will celebrate the opening of the Rutgers SummerFest Piano Institute Monday at 8 at the Rutgers Arts Center, New Brunswick.

Internationally known pianists Theodore Lettvin and Yefim Bronfman will join piano institute director Ilana Vered on stage at the Nicholas Music Center for a salute to the piano. A champagne reception will follow.

The program will include percussionists Earl Blackburn and William Moersch and pianists Nadia Bohachewsky, Alison Deane, Rena Fruchter, Paul Hoffman, Ann-Marie McDermott, Susan Merdinger and Paul Shaw.

Ms. Vered, Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Lettvin and Mr. Moersch are not only world-class musicians, but faculty members of the Mason Gross School of the Arts. Ms. Bohachewsky is an award-winning, second-year student at the School of the Arts, studying under Ms. Vered.

The piano gala will open with Ms. Vered and Mr. Lettvin performing Brahms' Hungorian Dances and Mozart's Fantasy in F minor, K. 608. Bartok's Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion will be performed by Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Shaw, Mr. Moersch and Mr. Blackburn. Following an intermission, Prokofiev's Sonata No. 7, Op. 83, will be played by guest artist Yefim Bronfman.

The finale will feature Franz Liszt's Hexomeron (six variations on the march from Bellini's I Puritoni). The piece was requested in 1837 by Princess Christine Belgiojoso for one of her famous charity concerts in Paris. She rounded up not only Liszt, who composed the bulk of the Hexameron, but Chopin, Czerny, Herz, Pixis and Thalberg to present the coup of the Paris social and artistic season.

The Rutgers SummerFest performance will feature a special twist to the work. All the variations will be played at six pianos by six women — Ms. Bohachewsky, Ms. Deane, Ms. Fruchter, Ms. McDermott, Ms. Merdinger and Ms. Vered.

The Nicholas Music Center, site of the concerts, is located in the Rutgers Arts Center on George Street at Route 18 in New Brunswick. Tickets for all Rutgers SummerFest events may be purchased by calling the Rutgers Ticket Office at (201) 932-7511.

Brass Quintet Scheduled For Mercer Park Concert

The Trenton Brass Quintet Plus One will present a free concert Saturday at Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The performance is part of the "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission during July and August.

The Trenton Brass Quintet Plus One was founded in 1973 by Karl Megules, the group's artistic director, and has developed an extensive audience in the Mercer County area. Its repertoire includes both classical brass pieces and modern and pops compositions.

Members of the ensemble include Karl Megules, tuba; Jim Tuozzolo, trumpet; Joe Scannella, trumpet; Peter Reichling, trombone; Nancy Gallagher, French horn; and Leonard Pucciatti, percussion.

All "Music in the Park" performances will be held adjacent to the ice rink at Mercer County Park. There is no reserved seating. In the event of rain, performances will be held inside the rink. For further information call the Cultural and Heritage Commission weekdays at 989-6701.

For further information the day of the concert, call Mercer County Park, 586-8090.

Boychoir Goes to England To Tape Christmas Show

Twenty-two students from the American Boychoir School will tape a television special with Metropolitan Opera soprano Jessye Norman in England on July 16.

The program, "Jessye Norman's Christmas Show," is being produced jointly by Britain's Thames T.V. and America's Public Broadcasting System. It will air in England, Europe, and the United States in December. Taped in Ely Cathedral before an invited audience, the show will also include the English Chamber Orchestra, the Tallis Choir of London, and the Ely Cathedral Choir.

The invitation for the American Boychoir to participate came from Jessye Norman, who had asked the Boychoir last September to sing with her on a Philips recording of Christmas music which will be released internationally this fall. The television show grew out of that collaboration.

The boys who will participate in the project will return to the school Saturday for a rehearsal. On Sunday they will fly to Englaod where they will combine rehearsals and performing with educational touring. They will return to the United States on July 17.

Accompanying the Boychoir will be managers aod a proctor. The boys will meet their music director, James Litton, in England, where he is conducting an international seminar at the Royal School of Church Music.

Band Concert Thursday At Community Park N.

The first concert of the Summer Sounds '87 series will be held this Thursday at 7:30 at Community Park North. In the event of rain, the concert will be held on Friday at 7:30.

The band, Cheater Jooes, of Blawenburg will perform, led by vocalist Jim Zimmermao. The band has made an album entitled "Bombshell."

The free Summer Sounds are jointly sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Arts Council and are made possible by a grant from the Princeton Youth Fund. For more information, call 921-9480 or 924-8777.

Outings Are Scheduled To New York City Opera

The Westminster Conservatory Opera Outings will be taking in two Puccini favorites at New York City Opera.

They are Tosca, July 16, and La Boheme, July 23. Both are evening performances, aod buses will leave from the Westminster Choir College campus at 4:30 to arrive at Lincoln Center in time for a light supper.

Orchestra and second ring seats are still available. Prices include round trip transportation. For more information call the Westminster Conservatory office at 921-7104 or 921-7100 extension 260.

Cellist, Pianist Here For Richardson Concert

Sadao Harada, cellist of the Tokyo Quartet, will be joined by pianist Michael Thomopoulos for the third concert in the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concerts Series on Thursday evening, July 16. The free concert, opeo to the public, begins at 8 in Richardson Auditorium.

Mr. Harada is a foundiog member of the Tokyo String Quartet and a prize-winning orchestral soloist and recitalist. He was the youngest principal cellist of the Tokyo Symphony prior to coming to the United States, where he was appointed principal cellist of the Aspeo Chamber Orchestra and principal cellist of the Nashville Symphony.

After deciding to pursue a career io chamber music, Mr. Harada entered the Juilliard School where he studied with members of the Juilliard Quartet. In 1969, the Tokyo String Quartet was formed and attracted world-wide attention by winning several international competitions.

Massachusetts-born pianist Michael Thomopoulos received his training at the New England Conservatory and the Juilliard School. Also the winner of numerous international competitions, Mr. Thomopoulos maintains a busy teaching as well as performing career. He is co-director of the Ichimura Music School, and is founder and director of the Palisades Chamber Players.

Mr. Harada and Mr. Thomopoulos will perform works by Vivaldi, Franck, Rachmaninoff and Schumann.

"TUMBLER": Sculpture by Tim Jewell, a New York City artist, is on view at The Squibb Gallery in Princeton through September 8. The exhibition, entitled "Summer Shadows," includes this steel silhouette.

ART

Silhouette Sculptures On Exhibit at Squibb

To label an artist's work "two-dimensional" might be considered a put-down, but in the case of Tom Jewell's wry collection, "Summer Shadows," it is only meant as a literal description of their girth.

On entering the gallery, with its sweep of wrap-around windows, the immediate impact of the figures silhouetted in the light-filled space is of a group of hand shadows that has suddenly leapt off the wall and swelled to life size. Almost two dozen apparitions, of almost uniformly dusky hue, are stationed about the room, many of them frozen into a variety of dramatically exaggerated poses.

Seen head on and from the rear, the figures, though innocent of any topographical features, at least have sculptural mass. From the sides, they are as thin and unenlightening as a plank. Some are hewn from sheets of 3/8" or ¼" steel; others from flats of wood. Facial features — eyes, nostrils, mouth — are reduced to cut-out holes.

Although several of the pieces bear a painterly trace of color — mostly the artful effect of blowtorch on steel — the overall effect is of a uniform blackness.

Many figures are caught in some athletic endeavor. Processive Man, shoulders hunched and arm swinging down, could be a football player caught in a driving run downfield. Do the shape of the head (or is it a helmet?) and the eye and mouth cut-outs impishly suggest a somewhat simian creature?

Pogo-Man, astride a pogo stick, is caught in mid-bounce. Enclosing his ears, and giving him the appearance of a visitor from outer space, are audio-muffs with antennae protruding from them.

Other "athletes" frozen in motion include Diver, on tiptoe and with arms upraised; Runner, with head tucked down and arm reaching ahead; and Tumbler, an over-muscled figure about to execute a cartwheel. He-Man is an amorphous blob-like apparition with a nominally triangular shape that could, with a little effort, be translated into a body-building hulk flexing his pectorals.

Although not engaged in an athletic pursuit, Jewell's David embodies the athlete's grace and stance while at the same time it is an echo — as well as a witty parody — of Michaelangelo's David.

Audience, a group of 20 paper-thin figures lined up on a three-tier bleacher section covering most of one wall from floor to ceiling, makes up a kind of "cheering section" for this oddball Olympiad.

Just as the bodies of the Audience crease at the proper places to conform with the seating tiers, so do the figures representing A Conscience conform to the hard edges of the stairwell ledge on which they are perched. (A Small Conscience is a baby brother to the larger figures.)

Of all the figures, the most realistically conceived (and the least satirical) is G & B. The side view of a woman's torso is drawn, with an infant lovingly cradled in the crook of her arm.

Though these are figures stripped to the essentials, they are far from simple. With an eye for the telling gesture, and with more than a little wit, Jewell has managed to capture multiple levels of human endeavor.

Charcoals at ETS. Donna Conklin calls her strong, gestural charcoals "building blocks." Each of the black and white abstracts is an energetically charged melange of zigzags, trapezoids, spiky protrusions and other sharp-edged scribbles held in tension against softly flowing background shapes. Enhanced depth is achieved by the artist's artful exploration of the eraser as a creative tool. What at first appears to be an underlay is actually the residue of a charcoal overlay.

Although abstract, many of the individual elements bear traces of representational forms. Some also bear more than a trace of the farcical. Thus, elements in Old McDonald are recognizable as corn stalks, a barn and the sun.

In Cocka doodle-do, the central element is a highly styled — yet still apparent — chicken. Don't Bug Me appears to have a primitive mask as a central element with a rather strange insect hopping into the middle. Carnival has a large oval shape with stick-like legs pointing out from all around its perimeter. With little effort, it's possible to translate the object into a whirling carnival ride.

These and other pieces remind one of the glyph-like doodles of Arp or Klee. There are things like telephone poles, barbed wire, springs and grids. In some nominal way, they could be said to be landscapes, but the overall effect is purely abstract.

Conklin is particularly fascinated by something known as "Amekak," an Eskimo spirit that lives in tbe ground. Unseen, it jumps through its victim, who then lies down and dies. Several of the landscapes containing images of African masks or Amekak have a rather dark and threatening quality, reflecting the artist's preoccupation with these supernatural elements.

The works can be seen at ETS through July 31.

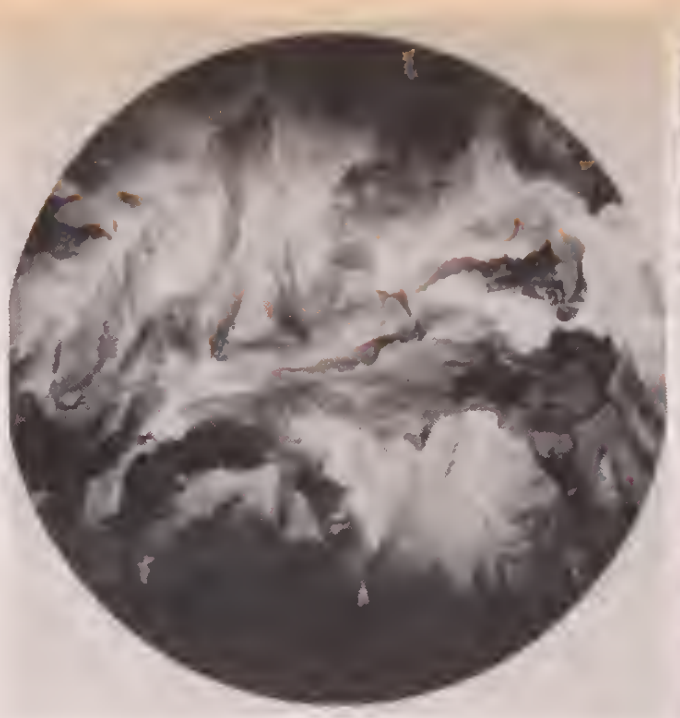
Beyond the Photograph. Cynthia Nelissen-Nihart has taken objects as lowly as lettuce leaves and, through the artistry of lighting and the camera lens, transformed them into compositions that resemble the cloud-filled heavens conceived by Rubens. In fact, these are not so much transformations as transfigurations. Using sepia-toned and, in a few instances, hand-colored, Polaroid silver prints in a circular or oval format, Nelissen-Nihart has experimented with "the fusion of painting and photography" as well as with "the fusion of illusion and reality."

"Beyond the Photograph" will be at AT&T Corporate Education Center Gallery through July 21.

—Marion Burdick

Collages by Ralph D. Caparulo will be on display from July 1-August 31 at Conant Hall, Educational Testing Service.

A reception will be held for the artist on Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m.



FUSION OF PHOTOGRAPHY & PAINTING: Cynthia Nelissen-Nihart transforms everyday objects such as lettuce leaves into Rubensque skies. Her work is on exhibit in "Beyond the Photograph" at AT&T Corporate Education Center Gallery through July 21.

Showdown Series Next For Princeton Post 76

For Princeton Post 76, the season so far has been only a prologue to this week's two-game series with undefeated Hamilton in the Mercer County American Legion standings.

Post 76, alone in second place with a 9-3 record, will be at Hamilton's home diamond at Mercer County Community College this Wednesday at 5:45. It was scheduled to oppose the league-leaders the previous day at its home field.

Hamilton is undefeated in 12 games. Princeton will bring a seven-game winning streak to the crucial series — the last two times the teams will meet in regular season play.

"It's still early in the season but if we want a shot at it we've got to win Tuesday," said Post 76 manager Larry Bender this week. "Tuesday. That's the big one.

"If we hope to have a run at first place, we need to win two," continued Bender. "We'll find out Tuesday if they want it. It's that simple.

It will be Post 76's best against Hamilton's best on the mound.

Bender planned to go with Tim Rumer, who hurled a no-hitter in his last outing, on Tuesday and come back with Jay Jordan on Wednesday. Jordan has a 3-1 record.

"They'll be throwing their two best at us," predicted Bender. "We'll probably see (Todd) Ruyak on Tuesday and Steve Bagley in the second game."

After its showdown with Hamilton, Post 76 will start the second half of the season with back-to-back games against Mitchell Davis.

Princeton will oppose M-D on Friday at 5:45 at Hetzel Field in Trenton and then host Post 182 on Saturday at 1 on its home field in Mercer Park.

Rumer All-Star Standout. Post 76's Tim Rumer played a big role in the Mercer County All-Stars' 10-4 victory Sunday at Mercer Park over the Bucks County All-Stars. The win gave Mercer a 3-2 edge in the series.

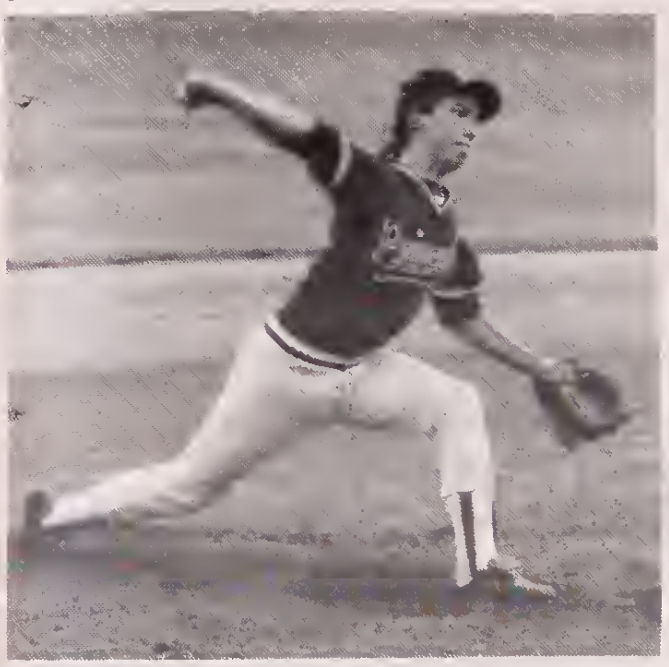
Rumer, who is batting .447 in the league, had two hits in two at-bats in the All-Star game. He scored two runs, drove in another with a double, and pitched the final inning, recording a strikeout to end the game after having loaded the bases on walks. Hamilton first baseman Kurt Stemhagen, who had three hits, drove in two runs and scored another, was named the game's Most Valuable Player. Bagley was the winning pitcher.

Three from Princeton were named to the 25-member Mercer All-Star roster: Rumer, who started in the outfield, second-baseman Dan Sexton and pitcher Jay Jordan. Hamilton led all teams with five players on the All-Star squad.

After Bucks had taken a 1-0 lead in the second, Mercer tied it in the same inning on singles by Rumer, who was batting clean-up, Stemhagen and Frank DeMarcello of Broad Street Park. Mercer took the lead for good in the following inning. Rumer doubled home Hamilton shortstop Joe Gmitter who had walked with two out. Rumer then scampered home on Stemhagen's second single.

Mercer put the game out of reach with a four-run spurt in the fifth inning. Sexton had a sacrifice during the rally and Rumer scored the fourth run on an error by the Bucks County third baseman.

MITCHELL CUT DOWN AT SECOND: Princeton Post 76 outfielder John Mitchell is out trying to steal second base in second-inning action against Hopewell Post 339. Hopewell's Nick Miller makes the tag. Game was halted in third inning because of rain, with Post 76 leading, 5-0. It will be replayed at a later date.



DURLING DELIVERS: Princeton Post 76 pitcher Kevin Durling delivers a pitch during his first mound start last week against Hopewell. Durling pitched two scoreless innings before the game was halted by rain.

One Win, One Rainout. Post 76 had begun the week with a home-and-home series against Hopewell Post 339, the first of nine such series that will conclude the 27-game season. Post 76 won the first game, 5-4, behind Jay Jordan's pitching and hitting. It was leading, 5-0, in the second game before rain forced a halt in the third inning. The entire game will be replayed at a later date.

In the first game, Jordan, who will join Darren Villani at the University of North Carolina in the fall, scattered five hits and struck out eight for his third win. He was just as nettling to Hopewell at the plate.

In the sixth with two down, the bases jammed and his team trailing 4-2, Jordan singled home Dan Sexton and Tim O'Connell, both of whom had also singled, for the tying runs. Rumer came home with the winning run when left fielder Brian Boucher allowed Jor-

Did you ever hear about the big league baseball player who saved the American flag? ... It was one of the most patriotic moments ever seen at a ball game ... It happened at Dodger Stadium, Los Angeles, on April 25, 1976 ... During the 4th inning of the game that day, outfielder Rick Monday saw two men jump on the field and start to burn the American flag ... Monday raced over, shoved both men aside — and saved the flag ... Monday got a standing ovation.

Surprisingly, the man who holds the all-time big league baseball record for the most runs batted in, in one season, is NOT any of the great sluggers you might think of first ... An almost-forgotten player named Hack Wilson had 190 runs batted in for the Cubs in 1930 — and that record has NEVER been topped, before or since.

Here's an amazing fact ... There were five grandfathers who drove in the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race this year — including the winner ... The five grandfathers who drove in this year's Indy were winner Al Unser, A.J. Foyt, Mario Andretti, Dick Simon and George Snider.

dan's sinking liner to get past him.

O'Connell had three of Post 76's 12 hits, while Rumer, Jordan and Andy Petrone had two apiece.

Petrone had taken over for veteran Darren Villani at third. A .400 hitter the previous three seasons, Villani had joined the team June 24 and was injured in his third game sliding into home in a 9-8 victory June 29 over Broad Street Park. He sustained a separated shoulder and Bender confirmed last week that Villani will miss the remainder of the season.

Against Hopewell on Wednesday, Post 76 scored a run in the first when Sexton, leading off, reached first on a disputed chopper in front of the plate. Sexton stole second, advanced on O'Connell's bunt and came home on Rumer's flyout.

Post 76 added an unearned run in the second off Hopewell hurler Matt Elliott and increased their lead to 5-0 in the third when Rumer's sky-high smash cleared the right field fence. Rumer's four-bagger was wiped out along with the game, however, when the rain forced a halt.

CLASSIC SWING, CLASSIC RESULTS: Princeton Post 76's Tim Rumer displays classic swing in connecting for a three-run homer last week against Hopewell. The former PHS player, who will enter Duke University in the fall, is batting .447, six of his last eight hits going for extra bases.

Kevin Durling made his first start on the mound for Post 76 and held Hopewell scoreless the first two innings.

Andy's Increases Lead In Princeton Softball

Andy's Tavern increased its lead to three games last week in the Princeton Recreation Department Men's Softball League when it edged second-place Hinkson's, 6-5. A single by Jason Petrone with the bases loaded in the seventh inning was the game-winner, as Andy's improved its record to 10-1.

In its next outing on Thursday, Andy's will oppose C. Square C., the only team it has lost to this season.

Against Hinkson's, after a scoreless first inning, Andy's took a 2-0 lead in the second on singles by Jim Lennon, Pat Kahny, Tom Foltiny and Anthony Cirullo. Hinkson's got one back in the third when Greg Hamer singled, advanced on an error and was driven home by Fred Wilson.

The score remained 2-1 until the sixth when Hinkson's plated four runs for a 5-2 lead. Five consecutive singles, and a few defensive lapses by Hinkson's, produced the runs.

Andy's came right back in the same inning to knot the score at 5. Scott Porreca and Jason Petrone opened the inning with singles, advanced on a long fly out and both scored on Lennon's single. After Kahny followed with another safety, Judd Petrone singled in Lennon with the tying run.

In the seventh, Andy's pushed across the winning run on consecutive singles by Jeff Grover, Kahny, Kevin Phox and Jason Petrone. Jason Petrone led the victor's attack with three hits, while Grover, the winning pitcher, Kahny, Phox, Porreca and Lennon contributed two hits each.

For Hinkson's Wilson had three hits in four at-bats and Mario DeVinanzi and Jim Mate each had two hits.

Shop Put Record Is Set By Youth from Princeton

In the track and field AAU Junior Olympics 1987 State Championships held last week at Millburn High School, Bram Reynolds of Princeton set a new state record in the boys' 10-11 shot put with a toss of 38-5¾. His first place in the event qualifies him for the Junior Olympic Regional Meet to be held later this summer in Rochester, N.Y.

Steven George finished second in the 10-11 boys' high jump with a leap of 4-4; the only other Princeton participant to win a medal was Ruth Williams, who tossed the shot 26-5¾ in the girls' 12-13 shot put event.

Tiffany Davis competed in two events in the girls' 10-11 division, finishing fourth in the 50-meter dash and fifth in the 100-meter dash. The 400-meter relay team of Marcus Johnson, Ricky Vernon, Eric McEwen and Kareem Smith finished fourth in the 10-11 division with a clocking of 60.82.

To participate in the state meet, contestants had to have been winners at the Princeton Junior Olympic and District Meets held earlier.

Junior Tennis Tourney Set Saturday and Sunday

The Princeton Recreation Department, in cooperation with the Princeton Community Tennis Program, will hold the Clifford Lamar Junior Championships for all players 16 and under, 14 and under, and 12 and under. The tournament is open to all boys and girls who are Princeton residents or participants in the Community Tennis program.

The tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Community Park tennis courts. Registration forms are available at the Recreation Department offices or at Community Tennis headquarters, 71 University Place. Deadline to register is Thursday. For additional information, call 924-4343.

Season Courts Available At Indoor Tennis Center

The Mercer County Public Indoor Tennis Center, located next to the County Airport, has seasonal courts available for the 1987-88 season.

These courts are reserved for a 30-week period beginning in October. Courts are available to County residents as follows: prime time on Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings and on Saturdays and Sundays; regular time on Monday through Friday during the day.

The deadline to register for the Women's Round Robin Tennis Program at the Tennis Center is Sunday. This program will run Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 to 11.

Players sign up as individuals, but games are played in a progressive partner doubles format; each player will have a new partner and two new opponents for each of the four rounds of play.

For further information, call the Park Commission at 989-6530.

Swim-a-Thon Scheduled To Aid Child's Foundation

The Mercer County division of the Make-a-Wish Foundation of New Jersey has announced a Make-a-Wish Swim-a-Thon.

Teams from the Princeton Area Swimming and Diving Association have been invited to participate in a week-long effort to raise money for the foundation, which grants wishes to children with life-threatening illnesses. Teams will compete with one another, vying for a prize to be awarded to the team which collects the greatest

Save $2,500.00

One more convincing reason to buy a new Audi 4000S.

There are a lot of convincing reasons to buy a new Audi 4000S. Intelligent design. Advanced engineering. And a long list of standard features including front-wheel drive, power brakes, electronic cruise control, air conditioning and much more.

But perhaps the most convincing reason to buy a new Audi 4000S is its price. Now for a limited time, you can save $2,500.00.

But hurry because an offer this good won't last. And neither will our supply of new Audi 4000S sedans. Our offer is good till July 31, 1987 — as long as our supply lasts.

Monroe and Eisenhower are all commemorated in this way.

Lincoln received an honorary degree from Princeton in 1864, shortly after he was elected to a second term. Cleveland took an active interest in Princeton affairs and made this town his home after leaving office. He is buried in Princeton Cemetery. Madison was the first president of the Alumni Association.

The Marquis de Lafayette, French soldier and statesman who served as a general in the American Revolutionary Army and was a close friend of Washington, has a street in the western section named for him. Awarded an honorary DDL by Princeton in absentia in 1790 for his contribution to the American cause of independence, he came here in 1824 for the presentation and a grand ceremony.

Gen. Hugh Mercer, killed at the Battle of Princeton, is remembered, as is Elias P. Boudinot, a native of Princeton who married the daughter of Richard Stockton "The Signer" and was president of the Continental Congress when it sojourned in Princeton during the summer months of 1783. Less well known is Andrew Hunter, who grew up in Greenholm, was a tutor at the college and became the first chaplain of the U.S. Navy, and Jonathan Dickinson Sergeant, a member of the Continental Congress who also helped draft the New Jersey Constitution. Both have streets named for them.

Early Settlers. Several of Princeton's earliest settlers in the vicinity of Stony Brook are remembered in street names: the Stocktons, Oldens, Clarkes (a cul-de-sac in the new Russell Estates development) Worth (there is a Worth's Mill cul-de-sac in the Heatherstone development), Horner and Fitz-Randolph. East toward Kingston early settlers included the Greenlands, Brinsons and Gulicks, but so far there is only Gulick Road.

Bayard Lane was originally called Paterson Street, for Judge William Paterson, a native of Princeton who took part in the Constitutional Convention. It was later changed to honor Judge Samuel Bayard whose residence was for many years the only important one on it.

Another Princeton resident who took part in the Constitutional Convention was David Brearly, for whom a street in the Russell Estates is named. Bainbridge Street is named for the family that occupied the Historical Society's present headquarters, including Commodore William Bainbridge, commander of the USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides."

Tulane Street honors the family from which Paul Tulane, wealthy New Orleans businessman and benefactor of Tulane University, was descended. The Tulanes were part of a group of French Huguenots who fled the French Revolution and settled in Cedar Grove, along what is now called The Great Road. Paul Tulane is buried in Princeton Cemetery.

Great men from more recent times are also honored in Princeton street names. The Institute for Advanced Study has named streets for Oswald Veblen, the mathematician who was its first professor, John von Neumann, a mathematical physicist who built at the Institute the computer that made the essential calculations for the development of the hydrogen bomb, and Albert Einstein, whose name is almost synonymous with the Institute.

If there is a Paul Robeson Place, does King Street, in the Butler tract honor Martin Luther King? Van Dyke Street is probably named for the popular English lecturer and author, and his brother Paul, an historian. B. Franklin Bunn, manager of the Princeton University Store for almost 40 years and active in numerous town and gown affairs, including serving as mayor of both the Township and the Borough, is remembered in Bunn Drive, which was intended to open up a whole new area of office development ratables for the municipality.

Honored Mayors. Other mayors honored with street names include P. Mackay Sturges and Charles R. Erdman, who was also a much loved benefactor of Princeton Theological Seminary and Westminster Choir College.

The Seminary itself has contributed names to Princeton streets. Alexander Street, originally Canal Street, because it led to the newly opened Delaware & Raritan Canal, was renamed for the first professor at Princeton Seminary and a family promimently connected with its early years. Hodge Road is named for Charles Hodge, another Seminary professor.

According to John Hagaman, principal Princeton historian, Harrison Street, an early road from Scudders Mill to Jugtown, was named in honor of John Harrison, an 18th-century merchant and postmaster who was also sometime treasurer of the college. William Street was named for William Clow who kept the cheap refectory for the college in a frame building on this street. Lytle Street took its name from William Lytle, "the old surveyor," in Hagaman's 1879 history.

Place Names. Some street names are derived from the places they pass or go to. Library Place, originally Steadman Place for the well-known architect and developer, Charles Steadman, who contributed many classic homes, got its second name from the Seminary's Lenox Library and its annex, later torn down to make way for the new library.

Edgehill Street took its name from the boys' school of the same name which for 40 years was one of the best known preparatory schools in the East. It later formed the basis for the "old" Hun School campus, and still later became part of the Seminary campus. The street was opened through school property.

Evelyn College for Women, which one historian describes as creating "a pleasant stir in the borough of Princeton for 10 years at the end of the last century," was housed in two buildings, one of which is on what is now Evelyn Place. This college was founded in 1887 by a 72-year-old clergyman and former Princeton professor, Joshua Hall McIlvaine, who named it after Sir John Evelyn, a 17th-century man of letters.

Bank Street was opened past Princeton Bank, the earliest bank in town, and at one time there was a quarry by Quarry Street.

amount of money. Each team member is asked to sign up sponsors, who will make donations based on the number of laps swum during the five-day period.

The Swim-a-Thon starts Monday and continues through next Friday, July 17. Although swimmers are allowed the entire five days to complete their laps, some pools are concentrating on one main day to swim for Make-a-Wish.

One is Hopewell Valley Golf Club Pool, where Mike Riley, pool manager, plans to help promote the swim-a-thon by remaining in the pool from 9 to 9, catching donations thrown to him.

The winning team will be announced July 23, and the winners' pool party will be held at the winning club on Monday, July 27.

Those wishing to participate through swimming, volunteering services, or donating money, should call Mary Smith at 393-5362.
